INTRODUCTION

This is the first time that any attempt has been made to combine in one series the whole of the registers of any particular district. The object is to make the records more useful to the genealogist; and to still further aid this intention a special map covering the Fylde district has been prepared, as a knowledge of local topography is essential to this kind of research. This map shows the nine Catholic missions whose registers are now presented, and also the parish churches with the date of earliest registers,* so that the search for marriages and burials will be simplified and facilitated; baptisms of Catholics are seldom found in parish registers. The parish and township boundaries are given, and many of the old halls where Mass was said in penal times are shown in a distinctive type, and though these old abodes of the gentry are now used as farmhouses and have fallen from their high estate, they will always be interesting to Catholics as having played an important part in keeping alive the lamp of the Faith in days of persecution.

This part of Lancashire known as "the Fylde" has no official delimitation. Porter, in his History of the Fylde, describes it as consisting of the six parishes of Kirkham, Poulton, Bispham, Lytham, St. Michael's, and Woodplumpton. The more general description would be the district bounded south by the River Ribble, north by the River Wyre, west by the sea, and east by the high road from Preston to Garstang.

No district even in Lancashire has clung more tenaciously to the Faith or given more sons to the Church, and this may to some extent be accounted for by its comparative isolation, as lying off the main track. One of the most interesting books dealing with the Catholic life of this district is "The Tyldesly Diary" (covering the period 1712–3–4), which was edited by Joseph Gillow, and printed with copious notes in 1873. The period just before the Jacobite rising of 1715 is an important one, and this book is largely quoted by every historian dealing with this part of Lancashire. The "Haydock Papers," by the same author, also deals largely with Catholic life in this neighbourhood.

Some of the registers were in a very bad state, and the printing of them has come none too soon if the records were to be preserved at all. Thanks are due to the Archbishop of Liverpool and clergy for hearty co-operation, and especially to Dean O'Reilly and FF. Barker and Roberts for undertaking their transcripts.

Only second in importance to the registers themselves are the historical notes on the separate missions by Mr. Gillow, the value of which cannot easily be over-rated. Mr. Gillow's place as a Catholic historian and genealogist is too well known to our members to need recapitulation, but here he is in his own particular domain, and his vast stores of information have enabled him to produce what is practically a complete Catholic history of one of the most Catholic parts of England, and a very full record of the lives of those devoted clergy who laboured so strenuously in this district.

* The following registers have already been printed by the "Lancashire Parish Register Society":—Poulton, 1591–1677; Lytham, 1679–1754; St. Michael's, 1659–1707; Woodplumpton, 1604–1659; Bispham.

J. P. SMITH.

Members will like to know that Mr. J. P. Smith is presenting to the Society Volumes XV and XVI, bearing the whole of the expense of transcribing six of the nine registers, the preparation of the index and map, together with all the collation of proofs, printing, binding, etc. In addition, he has obtained subscriptions towards other registers. The result of his generosity and labour is that the Society will be in a position to issue two volumes yearly for some time.

Further, he has devoted his marked business ability and energy to organising the system of obtaining further transcripts of Lancashire registers, so that a fine collection is completed, and is being increased. Being behind the scenes, I have knowledge of many journeys taken by him, large correspondence, and all that devotion and diplomacy necessary to secure such results, and the confidence of those in authority. So I decline to be silent.—THE HON. SECRETARY.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF ST. ANNE'S, WESTBY, KIRKHAM, LANCASHIRE. 1763–1816.

CONTRIBUTED BY J. P. SMITH.

HISTORICAL NOTES BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

Westby Hall, so long the seat of the mission under the protection of its ancient lords, the Cliftons, is situated between Kirkham and Lytham, and is now a farmstead, with no visible traces of the times when it was the residence of a great territorial family. The manor of Westby originally belonged, it is believed, to the family of that name which eventually through an heiress obtained and settled at Mowbreck Hall, in the neighbouring township of Wesham. It had passed, however, into the possession of Gilbert de Clifton, of Clifton, about the time when he was sheriff of Lancashire in 1278. His descendant, Richard de Clifton, founded the chantry of the Holy Crucifix in the parish church of Kirkham, and on July 1, 1444, had a licence granted to him by the archdeacon of Richmond to have divine services performed by a fit chaplain within his Oratories at Westby and Clifton—(Raine's Lanc. Chantries, Cheth. Soc., ii, 213). In 1606, Cuthbert Clifton, subsequently knighted, purchased the manor of Lytham, and about 1625 converted the ancient priory with various additions into a residence, known as Lytham Hall, to which he removed from Westby, and died there in 1634. Westby Hall, however, long continued to be occupied as a dower-house or by various younger members of the family. In 1641 the hall was held by the parliamentarian Major Edward Robinson, and the cavaliers made an unsuccessful raid on the place, and a good deal of skirmishing was the result. During the Cromwellian sequestration, Mass no doubt ceased to be said under the roof of the hall, but there is evidence that it was said elsewhere in the township, and that the numerous Catholics of the district had always their spiritual wants attended to by a resident priest. As in similar histories of missions during the dark days of persecution, only occasional glimpses are obtained of those good priests who risked their lives in their efforts to preserve the faith and serve their countrymen, and the record of such is as follows :—

Sir Thomas Prymbett, the last incumbent of the chantry of the Holy Crucifix in Kirkham, of which Sir Thomas Clifton was patron at the time of the suppression, in 1548, was then sixty years of age. He withdrew with a small pension to Westby Hall, as chaplain to his patron, who died Sept. 19, 1551. There the good priest passed the remainder of his life, and died July 19, 1564. In his will, dated the previous Jan. 24th, he describes himself as "Thomas Premytt, Preste," and desires to be buried in the parish church of Lytham ; he makes various bequests, amongst which—"to olde Maystres Cliftoun a crone in golde"—(Raine's Lanc. Chantries). The names of the next two priests met with in connection with Westby are from the reports of spies in 1581 :—

Rev. "Richard Brittaine, a prieste, receypted in the howse of William Bennet of Westbye, about the beginninge of June last [1580], from whence younge Mr. Norrice of Speake conveighed the said Brittaine to Speak, as the said Bennett hath reported. This also appeareth by the presentmente of the vicare of Kirkham. This Brittaine remaynneth now at the howse of Mr. Warrine of Speake, as appearethe by the deposicon of John Osbaldston (by comon reporte)"—(Fishwick, Hist. of Kirkham, p. 201). The wife of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall, who died in 1608, was Mary, daughter of Sir Edward Norreys, of Speke Hall, co. Lanc., Knt., and Mr. Clifton's grandfather and namesake married Eleanor, daughter of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall, co. Lanc., Knt. Several of the Brittons (Brettons) were at the colleges at Douay, Rome, and in Spain.

Rev. "Ric^d Hadocke, a seminarie priest, als. deiv' Tytmouse, conversante in the companie of two wydowes, viz., Mrs. Alice Clyfton and Mrs. Jane Clyfton, aboute the first day of October last, 1580, by the reporte of James Baine. This appeareth by the presentmente of the vicar of Kirkham"—(Fishwick, Hist. of Kirkham, p. 201). Dr. Richard Haydock usually lived at Cottam Hall, and he apparently used the alias of Titmouse. He was a relative of the Cliftons, his great-grandfather, Gilbert Haydock, of Cottam, having married Alice, daughter of Robert Clifton, of Westby and Clifton, and the families were otherwise allied.

"ffather Robinsonne," unidentified, the name probably being an alias, is also found in the report of a spy, about 1585, as apparently dividing his services between Cuthbert Clifton at Westby and Mrs. Tyldesley, the wife of Thurstan Tyldesley, at Stanzacre Hall, in Myerscough—(P.R.O. Dom. Eliz., vol. clxxxv, No. 85).

Dom Lambert Clifton, O.S.B., son of William Clifton, of Ballam in Westby, gent., younger son of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall, Esq., by his first wife Eleanor, daughter of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall, Knt., was entered in the rolls of the Preston Guilds of 1582 and 1602. He was professed at S. Facundus, Sahagun, in Spain, came to the English mission, and was apparently in London, using the alias of Lawrence Lambert in 1605, and was imprisoned with the venerable martyr John Roberts in Newgate in 1610—(Camm, Life of Ven. John Roberts, pp. 178, 289, 291). After his release he came to Lancashire, was serving the mission in 1619 (Weldon, Chron. Notes, Appx., 6), and was probably at Westby Hall till his death, the date being assigned to March 30, 1631.

Dom Edmund Augustine Smith, O.S.B., a native of Lancashire, went to Rome, where he was received into the English Hospital March 28, for eight days, and thence on April 12, 1589, was admitted into the English College by Fr. Joseph Cresswell, S.J., the rector, at the age of 24. He took the college oath on Dec. 8 following (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 178, 561), and was ordained priest, but immediately afterwards joined the Benedictines at Monte Cassino, where he was professed in 1592. "He was so esteemed," says Dom Bennet Weldon (Chron. Notes, O.S.B., p. 40), "especially for his skill in the canon law, that they made him their vicar to discharge the episcopal jurisdiction that blessed and renowned sanctuary enjoyeth in its territory." In 1605 he left for the English mission, and was appointed superior of the Italian Benedictine Congregation in England—(Snow, Bened. Necrology, p. 38). When it was considered expedient to unite the old English, the Spanish, and the Italian Congregations in England, the last did not come in under the Brief Ex Incumbenti in 1619, and continued under their old Cassinese superiors till at last they died out. Fr. Smith settled on the mission at Westby, and his name is coupled with that of Fr. Lawrence Anderton, S.J., alias John Brereley, Priest, in a spy's report to the Council of the pilgrimage to St. Winifred's Well, on St. Winifred's Day, 1629, as "FF. Anderton and Smith," Sir Cuthbert Clifton's two priests at Lytham Hall and Westby Hall. The date of Fr. Smith's death is unknown. The next Benedictine found at Westby was—

Dom Gervase Grey, O.S.B., but of whom very few particulars can be traced. The surname was almost certainly an alias, but as the rather uncommon Christian name was one that was popular with the Cliftons of this period, it is suggestive that he was one of that family. He was professed some time before 1619 at the great Benedictine Abbey of Monte Cassino (Weldon, Chron. Notes, p. 5), came to the English mission, and died at Westby Hall, April 6, 1641 (Snow, Bened. Necrology, p. 46). As we have seen it was in or about this year that the hall ceased to be occupied by members of the Clifton family. As the Cassinese Congregation in England had now dwindled to the point of extinction, the mission was handed over to the care of the Jesuits, and probably served from Lytham. Meanwhile, the civil wars broke out, several of the Cliftons lost their lives in the royal cause, and their estates were confiscated by the parliamentarians.

Fr. William Shackleton alias Stanton and Banister, S.J., was administering to the district at this period, but his notice will appear under Lytham.

Fr. Augustus Heneage alias Newby, S.J., succeeded Fr. Shackleton at Lytham in 1655 for some years. Meanwhile Westby Hall had been let as a farmhouse, though it is almost certain that its chapel was regularly served. It is the tradition that for some time Mr. Clifton's chaplain used to say an early Mass at Lytham Hall and a later one at Westby Hall. The next resident chaplain met with at Westby was—

Fr. Edward Barrow, S.J., born at Westby in 1660, most probably the son of John Barrow, yeoman, who appears as a recusant in Westby-cum-Plumpton in 1667 (C.R.S., vi, 207). He entered the Society of Jesus at Watten on Sept. 7, 1683, and was made a spiritual coadjutor Feb. 2, 1693. He came to the mission in Lancashire, and was appointed chaplain to the Cliftons at Westby Hall. After the defeat of the Chevalier de St. George in 1715, John Smith, of Stalmine, one of the two high constables for Amounderness Hundred, made his return to the Hon. Commissioners for Forfeited Estates, and Estates given to Superstitious Uses, in Oct., 1716, under the township of Westby-cum-Plumpton, as "About a year ago one Mr. Barrow, a pop. prt." (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates Papers, 1, 2); and at the Lancaster sessions, Jan. 15, 1716–7, he was convicted as a popish recusant under the description of "Edward Barrow, reputed romish Priest"—(Ibid., 62 P.). He was also outlawed. Mr. Chambers Slaughter, the accountant-general to the Forfeited Estates Commission, was very anxious to catch Fr. Barrow, and the description he gives of his proceedings in his correspondence with the Commissioners reads like a romance, or a thrilling narrative of a priest hunt in the days of Elizabeth. Fr. Barrow took refuge at Lytham Hall, but paid repeated secret visits to Westby Hall. From the correspondence (Gillow, Haydock Papers, pp. 232 seq.) it appears that Slaughter himself discovered various hiding-places in the chapel, and obtained from them "a large quantity of folio books, among which several MSS., a large gilt head of St. Ignatius, some altar linnen, and a crucifix," and also "priests' vests, some altar and household linnen, and a large picture of ye Virgin Mary, which I suppose by the size cover'd the wall at the altar." As the goods were being conveyed away, on March 9, 1716, "the people at Kirkham came out and forct in the two horses which were hir'd from thence to bring Barrow's books, etc., to Preston. But by the help of constable whom I charg'd, and some other assistance, I forct out the horses again, and brought off ye goods. The reason, I apprehend, must be disaffection." Fr. Barrow proved himself a match for Mr. Chambers Slaughter, and remained at Westby till his death in August, 1721, aged 61. He possessed extraordinary force of character, was a famous hunter, and used to follow the hounds with Squire Clifton. His portrait in oil, with date and age, was eventually given by Miss Hall, of Westby, to her brother, the Very Rev. Provost John Hall, of Macclesfield, and remained in the presbytery there till after the death of Canon Henry Walker, when it passed to some other member of the Hall family, which was related to that of Barrow—(C.R.S., vi, 207). Fr. Barrow's successor was—

Fr. John Berington alias Harper, S.J., born March 19, 1673, one of the ancient family seated at Winsley Hall, co. Hereford, who at the time of Fr. Barrow's death was chaplain to William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, in Little Singleton, Esq., and thence removed to Westby Hall. In the beginning of 1729, Bishop Williams, V.A.—N.D., made his visitation, and gave confirmation to 247 of the united congregations of Lytham and Westby in the chapel at Lytham Hall, Fr. Berington being present on the occasion with the Lytham chaplain, Fr. John Gosling alias Bennet, S.J. Upon the latter's departure from Lytham in 1741, Fr. Berington took his place, and resided there till his death in 1743, and will be further noticed under Lytham. He was succeeded at Westby by—

Fr. Roger Leigh, S.J., son of Roger Leigh, of Aspull, co. Lancaster, born March 15, 1708, who has already been noticed under Liverpool (C.R.S., ix, 185). He came to Westby Hall in 1741. During Fr. Barrow's troubles, and probably for many years later, William Latham was the tenant-farmer of Westby Hall. The Lathams became connections of the Leighs of Aspull, for Fr. Roger Leigh eventually died at the house of his nephew, Thomas Latham, in Wigan Lane, in 1781. Soon after Fr. Leigh's arrival at Westby, Squire Thomas Clifton commenced to erect a new chapel attached to the western end of the hall, which was formally opened on May 1, 1742. Like nearly all of the chapels in the Fylde, it was "up-steps," the lower portion being used for farm purposes. Three years later, in 1745, probably on account of the Jacobite rising of that year, Fr. Leigh was transferred by his superiors to Formby, and his subsequent career was spent as related under Liverpool. His successor at Westby was—

Fr. William Weldon alias Hunter, S.J., possibly descended from the territorial family seated at Weldon, in Northumberland, in which county he was born Dec. 12, or July 2, 1711. He entered the Society Sept. 7, 1732, and in due course came to the mission in Lancashire. He was at New House, Ince Blundell, in 1741, according to Bishop Dicconson's list, probably having gone there in 1738, and thence was transferred to Westby Hall in 1745. Here he continued till his death, Dec. 3, 1761, aged 50, and was succeeded by—

Fr. Thomas Cuerden, S.J., born June 23, 1718, the younger son of William Cuerden, of Clayton-le-dale, co. Lanc., chapman, who as a Catholic non-juror registered his estate in 1718, and returned some land held in fee by his infant son Thomas, and estate at Cuerden for the lives of his sons Matthew and Thomas. The family were originally descended from the territorial lords of Cuerden (C.R.S., vi, 154). He entered the Society Sept. 7, 1737, in due course came to the mission in London, and in 1761 was appointed to Westby Hall. Here he commenced the register of baptisms on Jan. 16, 1763. In 1767 the Bishop of Chester had returns made to him as regards the numbers of papists and popish priests in his diocese, and the vicar of Kirkham reported that there were 989 Catholics above sixteen years of age in his parish, and a Jesuit priest named Thomas Cuerden. In a previous return in 1717, the number of Catholics was estimated at 477. Westby Chapel, however, was further from Kirkham than that at Mowbreck Hall, which mission, now represented by The Willows, embraced the town of Kirkham. On Sept. 21, 1784, Bishop Matthew Gibson, V.A.—N.D., made his visitation at Westby Hall, and confirmed 78 members of the congregation, Fr. Cuerden returning his communicants at 360. At this period the Society had been temporarily suppressed, and Fr. Cuerden was described in documents as "ex-Jesuit," or "Gentleman of the ex-Society." In 1791 he was transferred to Scholes, near Prescot, where he died March 30, 1793, aged 75. His successor was—

Dom Richard Bernard Butler, O.S.B., born 1748, second son of Henry Butler, of Stalmine Hall, Esq., and his wife Mary, daughter of Richard Parkinson, of Claughton, Esq. Fr. Butler's grandfather was Christopher Butler, Esq., the twenty-first and youngest child of Richard Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, Esq. He was professed at St. Gregory's Monastery at Douay in 1776, and after being cellerarius was sent to the English mission, first to St. Mary's, Liverpool, 1785–7, and thence to Follyfoot, co. York, 1787–91, when he took charge of Westby. Here he remained till he retired in 1820 from missionary duty to his monastery of St. Gregory, meanwhile settled at Downside, near Bath, and there he died, July 2, 1825, aged 77. Upon his withdrawal from Westby his place was taken by—

Rev. Thomas Pinnington, who came to Westby from Heath Hall, co. York, in 1820, and retained possession of the mission till 1830, though latterly for some brief period he had a Benedictine assisting in the mission. Mr. Pinnington's career will be found under Great Eccleston.

Dom Peter Athanasius Allanson, O.S.B., born in London in 1805, professed at Ampleforth, near York, in 1821, and ordained priest in 1828, for a short period assisted Mr. Pinnington at Westby Hall till his appointment, it is said, to Swinburne, Northumberland, though he appears in the registers of Bellingham as serving that mission from Dec. 6, 1829, to Jan. 28, 1831. The remainder of his life he spent at Swinburne, dying Jan. 13, 1876, aged 70.

Rev. George Leo Haydock, the eminent biblical annotator, succeeded Mr. Pinnington on Sept. 25, 1830. He was the youngest son of George Haydock, of The Tagg, Cottam, gent., and his second wife, Anne, daughter and eventual heiress of William Cottam, of Bilsborrow, gent., and was born April 11, 1774. He made his elementary studies under the Rev. Robert Banister at Mowbreck Hall, where he remained for three years, and from that boarding-school was sent to Douay College, where he arrived April 29, 1785. During the French Revolution he effected his escape from the college on Aug. 5, 1793, and arrived in London nine days later. After visiting his home, he proceeded to Old Hall Green, near Ware, about the following Dec. 3, to join some Douay refugees assembled there, but left on Nov. 3, 1794, to repair to Crook Hall, Durham, where other Douay refugees had collected, but seeing things were so unsettled went home, and stayed at The Tagg, reading the vulgate, etc., until Jan. 13, 1796, when he set out for Crook Hall, where he arrived four days later. There he finished his course of theology, was ordained priest Sept. 22, 1798, and was retained in the college as a professor till Jan. 26, 1803. He then took charge of the mission at Ugthorpe, in Yorkshire, where he erected a new chapel, which was opened April 10, 1810. He was transferred to Whitby in 1815, and thence came to Westby in 1830, but only stayed eleven months. He withdrew to his estate, The Tagg, in August, 1831, and there resided in retirement for eight years. In 1839 he took charge of the mission at Penrith, where he projected the erection of a new chapel, but died before it was opened, Nov. 29, 1849, aged 75, and was buried in the new chapel on the left side of the chancel. His memoir and list of works will be found in the writer's Biographical Dictionary of the English Catholics, iii, 211–21. He was succeeded at Westby by—

Rev. John Dixon, noticed under Cottam, who came to Westby Hall in August, 1831, and remained until the chapel was closed by Squire Thomas Clifton in 1845. His predecessor, Mr. Haydock, writing in 1847, says that the income of the mission at Westby in 1831 amounted to about £100: "John Clifton [of Lytham] paid for all repairs, several hundreds, while I was there. But in August, 1831, his son Thomas went over to the Protestant Church, and after some years shut up ye chapel, and my successor, John Dixon, got to Cottam happily. John Clifton died Mar. 23, 1832 [aged 68], near London, perhaps still a Catholic, and was brought to be buried at Lytham. His son, upon whose wife I once called, about June, 1831, was zealous for ye Protestant Church. He had never been so for ye Catholic Church, though educated at St. Cuthbert's College, and—marrying a Protestant clergyman's daughter, said to have been a Jewess, and both gamblers—probably neglecting a good conscience, easily made shipwreck of the faith. May he return before it is too late. [Thomas Clifton, who died in July, 1851, aged 63, married Hetty, daughter of Pellegrine Treves, postmaster-general of Bengal, and widow of David Campbell, of Kildaloig, Argyllshire, younger brother to Sir Lewis Campbell, Bart.] His son [John Talbot Clifton, who returned to the faith before his death in 1882] got awhile to be M.P. for North Lancashire [1844–7], and talked foolishly about ye Protestant prayer-book, denying that there was any prayer for 'plenty' and against 'dearth,' being a protectionist. The Clifton family has injured ye congregation at Westby, which had just beautified ye chapel at £100 expense. The father of Thomas, [John], and son of ye admired old squire [Thomas, who died May 11, 1783, aged 55], had formerly suppressed Salwick [Hall] Chapel, and had a lawsuit (in which he was cast) with Mr. Lund [Anthony, priest at Fernyhalgh, and vicar-general in Lancashire], etc., on ye death of good old Rev. Wilson [Robert Langstaff alias Wilson, who died at Salwick Hall, Jan. 14, 1798]. The judge said he might have been transported, and he was probably ye first [of his family] who had thus acted towards his own Church. He lived at variance with his wife Riddell [Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Horsley Widdrington-Riddell, of Felton Park and Swinburne Castle, Esq.], and all this tended to his ruin. We must pray for all benefactors—as ye family was long—and for enemies too"—(Gillow, Haydock Papers, p. 237). And so Mr. Dixon was transferred to Cottam, in 1845, where he remained till his death, June 4, 1852. After his departure the mission was temporarily served by—

Fr. Joseph Postlewhite (correctly Postlethwaite), S.J., born April 7, 1784, son of William and Elizabeth Postlewhite of Westby, where his ancestors had been tenant-farmers under the Cliftons for many generations, and had supplied a considerable number of priests to the Church. He was educated at Stonyhurst, entered the Society at Hodder in 1803, was ordained priest by Bishop Milner at Wolverhampton, Sept. 15, 1816, and, after serving at Wardour Castle, the seat of Lord Arundell, Courtfield, co. Hereford, the seat of the Vaughans, Wigan, Boston, and Worcester, retired to his home at Westby, and was the last to say Mass in the old chapel. The old hall, the walls of which were of great thickness and strength, was then pulled down, and the chapel, with the part used as the priest's house, was converted into a farmhouse. Fr. Postlewhite then returned to Stonyhurst, where he died March 30, 1870, aged 86—(Foley, Records S.J., vii, 618).

After the closure of the chapel at Westby Hall in 1845, the congregation had to attend the new church erected in that year at The Willows, Kirkham. At length, in 1859, Miss Elizabeth Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, who died two years later, March 15, 1861, aged 81, purchased from Col. John Talbot Clifton a site at Westby, near to the old windmill, and not very far from the hall, and presented it to the Bishop of Liverpool, Dr. Alexander Goss, for the erection of a new church, presbytery, and schools. Miss Anne Orrell, of Blackbrook House, gave £500, Mr. William Billington, of Kirkham, defrayed the expense of the chancel, Mr. John Hodgson, of Goosnargh, gave £100 and the tabernacle, and Mr. John Sidgreaves, of Lytham, gave a similar amount. The foundation-stone of the new church, dedicated to St. Anne, was laid on May 31, 1859, by Bishop Goss, and on Aug. 26, 1860, it was solemnly opened. The design of the church was gothic but peculiar, being one of the bishop's ideas carried out by Mr. E. W. Pugin. Eventually, during 1889–90, the roof having forced the walls from the perpendicular and endangered the church, buttresses and iron columns were added under the supervision of Mr. Pugin's half-brother, the late Peter Paul Pugin, and in 1899 a new organ and gallery were erected. For fourteen months after the opening of the church its founder—

Rev. Frederick Hines, of The Willows, Kirkham, under which he is noticed, served Westby from thence, till the appointment in 1861 of—

Rev. William Ball, born 1826, son of Mr. Thomas Ball, of Heaton, near Lancaster, and his wife Jane, who died respectively at Lancaster and Kirkham, June 26, 1840, aged 63, and Sept. 14, 1854, aged 74. Some account of this old yeomanry family, long seated at Dolphin Lee, in Bulk, near Lancaster, has appeared C.R.S., vi, 246. Mr. Ball was ordained priest at Ushaw, Sept. 21, 1850, and, after serving for a short time at Wigan, and at St. Anthony's, Liverpool, was placed in 1852 at Thurnham, whence in 1857 he was transferred to The Willows, Kirkham, as assistant to Dean Hines, and, as already stated, became the first resident incumbent of the restored mission at Westby in 1861—(Hewitson, Our Country Churches and Chapels, pp. 345–52). Owing to the faulty design or construction of the roof, the church was never considered safe, and on one occasion when Mr. Ball happened to shoot an owl in the church, which he was unable otherwise to get rid of, he informed the writer that he really thought the church would have collapsed through the explosion; but, as Mr. Anthony Hewitson observed, nothing appeared to disturb him, he never met trouble half way, and so kept the ball gently moving till his retirement from missionary duty, in 1877, to his relations at Dolphin Lee, where he peaceably passed to his reward on June 27, 1880, aged 54. His successors at Westby have been as follows:—

Rev. Thomas Dawson, 1877–82.

Rev. Joseph Lowe, ordained priest at Ushaw, March 16, 1878, after serving in Liverpool, came to Westby in 1882 and stayed till 1892, when he went to Widnes, 1892–4, Woolston, 1894–1905, and thence retired in ill-health till his death, Nov. 23, 1911.

Rev. George W. Park, ordained priest at St. Joseph's, Upholland, May 30, 1885, after serving in Liverpool came to Westby in 1892, and is the present pastor.

No. II.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF ST. MARY'S, GREAT ECCLESTON IN THE FYLDE, CO. LANCASTER. 1771–1832.

Contributed by J. P. Smith.

Historical Notes by Joseph Gillow.

Great Eccleston, in the parish of St. Michael's-on-Wyre, now perhaps the most secluded village in the Fylde, being situated from five to seven miles from the railway stations at Kirkham and Poulton to the west, and Garstang and Brock to the east, was in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries considered a centre of social activity, in so much that it acquired the sobriquet of Little London. Many members and connections of Jacobite families reduced to impoverishment after the Rising of 1715 settled in the village or vicinity; and several artists of repute at different times resided in Great Eccleston whilst painting family portraits for the surrounding gentry. One of the last, a native, was Thomas Barrow, a pupil of Romney, who died in the village in 1822, aged 85. The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass never ceased to be offered up throughout the dark ages of persecution either in the village or in the houses of recusants in the neighbourhood, such as Eccleston House, subsequently called Leckonby House, in the village, and the Demesne of Elswick, some little distance away, both seats of the Leckonbys; Great Eccleston Hall, the residence of the Stanleys from early in the seventeenth till the middle of the eighteenth century; Cross House, in Great Eccleston, the seat of the White family from the reign of Edward III down to that of George III; Gillow House, in Little Eccleston, a seat of the Gillows from the middle of the seventeenth century till 1855; Stockenbridge Hall, in Tarnacre, the seat of the Blackburnes for about a hundred years prior to 1726, after which it passed through an heiress to the Leckonbys; Rawcliffe Hall, in Out Rawcliffe, the seat of the Butlers till the estate was confiscated in 1718, in consequence of the family's staunch adherence to the Stuarts; Upper Rawcliffe Hall, commonly known as White Hall, the seat of the Kirkbys, an ancient Catholic family, till about 1631, and afterwards of the Westbys till they sold the estate in 1857; and Turnover Hall, the seat of the Shuttleworth family till it passed through marriage to that of Westby in the middle of the eighteenth century. There were secret chapels in all these houses, and Mass was said in them either according to the convenience of the itinerant priests or the exigencies of the times.

In 1654 a priest passing under the name of John Sefton is found serving Stockenbridge Hall, the seat of Edward Blackburne, gent. (Foley, Records S.J., vi). He had previously been one of the chaplains at the Manor of Furness, the seat of John Preston, Esq., in 1629 (ibid., iv, 535). About this period another priest is met with attending to the locality. This was the Rev. George Richardson alias Benison, whose history is exceedingly interesting. He was either a curate or a Puritan minister during the Commonwealth, at the parish church of St. Michael's-on-Wyre. After his conversion he was befriended by the Lancashire grand-vicar, and archdeacon of the Chapter, the Rev. Robert Charnock alias Manley, of Blacklach House, otherwise the Old Hall of Leyland, "by whose paines and industry hee was fitted for priesthood," and by whom he was given the Chapter's dismissory letters to be ordained in Ireland. Afterwards he returned to the Fylde, to the parish in which he had served as a parson. "Hee was a very vertuous and good labourer," continues the old Chapter Obituary record (Palatine Note Book, iii, 102), "and dying was buried in the church where hee had formerly beene parson," apparently a very old man, and was entered in the registers of St. Michael's-on-Wyre under the alias of "George Gilloe, of Elswicke, 5 November, 1672" (L.P.R.S., vol. xxvii, pp. 70–2). He had suffered much persecution, and the vicar, Thomas Robinson, even condescended to malign the venerable old priest shortly before his death by imputing in his registers a "suposed daughter to Benison, ould prist." It was probably on this account that his friends buried him under the name of Gillow. At the time of his death he was residing at Elswick, probably at The Demesne, the residence of Richard Leckonby, Esq.

At length, during the reign of James II, things looked more propitious, and the neighbouring old domestic chapel in Maynes Hall, in Little Singleton, the seat of Thomas Hesketh, Esq., was replaced by a new structure adjoining the mansion, and publicly opened in 1686. Hence it is by no means improbable that it was about this time that the independent mission was established in the village of Great Eccleston, in the old thatched house in the Raikes, adjoining the site of the present chapel. The first priest on record, however, is the—

Rev. William Caton, who either came at the end of 1701 or the beginning of 1702. He was the son of Thomas Caton and Helen his wife, of Upper Rawcliffe, belonging to a staunch recusant family, and was sent to the English College at Rome, where he was admitted at the age of nineteen on April 24, 1694. There he was ordained subdeacon and deacon in February and April, and priest on May 24, 1699, and left the college on Oct. 1, 1701, en route for Paris, whence he came to the mission in England, being then, or very soon afterwards, appointed to the charge of Great Eccleston. The Jacobite diarist, Squire Tyldesley, under date Sunday, Nov. 2, 1712, records going "to Mr. Caton to prayers," with Mistress Mary Butler and her brother, "the young Lord," Richard Butler, son and heir of Henry Butler, Esq., of Rawcliffe Hall, and again with them "to Mr. Caton's" on Sunday, Sept. 6, 1713. It is thus evident that the independent mission had then been established in the old house in the Raikes. After the defeat of the Chevalier de St. George at Preston in 1715, Mr. Caton was indicted and convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions, Jan. 15, 1716–7. In the previous October, 1716, the constables of Great Eccleston, William Gaulter and Gregory Bibby, in their return to the High Constable of Amounderness Hundred (Forfeited Estates Papers, P.R.O., L. 2) had stated as regards their township that there were "no forfeited estates except Tho. Stanley, Esq., who is now outlawed, making his escape out of this rebellion. Wm. Kayton, a reputed pop. priest. There is no attainted persons or estates given to superstitious uses." Notwithstanding, Mr. Caton does not seem to have been disturbed, and he continued to serve the mission till his death, apparently whilst on a visit to the house of Thomas Holmes at Cottam, in 1749. His name appears on the Tabella Missarum at Scorton under the date Feb. 12, possibly that of his death. For some little time the mission appears to have been without an incumbent, though it is probable that some priest usually stayed with

Mr. Richard Gillow, at Gillow House, and attended to the requirements of the locality until the appointment of the—

Rev. Edward Ball, in 1750. He was one of the sons—three of whom became priests—of Robert Ball, of Dolphin Lee in Bulk, near Lancaster, by Winifred his wife, daughter of Mr. [John ?] Taylor, of Park Hall in Quernmore, near Lancaster, and was born Aug. 5, 1717. He was sent to Douay College, where he entered upon his course under the alias of Worthington on Oct. 1, 1730, was ordained priest Oct. 23, 1741, and was retained in the college as a professor until Aug. 6, 1747, at which time he was teaching rhetoric, when he was sent to take charge of the ancient mission at Ugthorpe in Yorkshire. In that "purgatory of the mission," as it was called, Mr. Ball continued till the bishop transferred him to Great Eccleston in 1750. Meanwhile, the old house and chapel dedicated to St. Laurence in the Raikes had fallen into a state of dilapidation, and its restoration was undertaken by Mr. Richard Gillow, who had it rethatched, and otherwise repaired. At the same time the house was furnished for the reception of the new incumbent out of contributions from the congregation, and Mr. Gillow purchased a clock for Mr. Ball from Adam Costen. The following is a specimen of Mr. Gillow's private accounts of expenditure on the maintenance of the chapel for one year:

Mr. Ball figures in these accounts till Nov. 1, 1757. It was then, most likely in consequence of some temporary "no Popery" persecution, that he was transferred to the Midland Vicariate, and appointed chaplain to Lord Langdale at Paynsley Hall, co. Stafford; but two years later, in 1759, he removed to Wolverhampton, probably in succession to the Rev. Thomas Atherton alias Pearson, who died there Dec. 31, 1758. There he remained till 1764, when he was called to teach at St. Omer's College, which had just been taken over by the secular clergy from the Society of Jesus. After some years he retired from St. Omer's, and in 1773–4 is met with as one of the chaplains at the Sardinian Chapel in London (Harting, Hist. of the Sardinian Chapel, p. 112). Finally, his mental faculties became weak, and he was sent into Flanders, where he died, according to a Clergy Obituary MS., at or near Aire in Artois, in January, but according to Dr. Kirk, on Feb. 16, 1789, aged 71. His successor at Great Eccleston was—

Rev. Francis Adam Cliffe, son of Thomas Cliffe, of Windle, co. Lancaster, and his wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Naylor, of Ashton-in-Makerfield. His paternal grandfather, Adam Eccles alias Cliffe, of Windle, yeoman, was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions, April 10, 1716, and as a Catholic non-juror registered his estate in 1717, mentioning his son Thomas and his two daughters Ellen and Anne. Francis was sent to Douay College, where he arrived Oct. 9, 1744, and was placed in rudiments, took the college oath April 10, 1751; defended philosophy, May 28, 1751; natural philosophy, Feb. 12, 1752; universal philosophy, June 4, 1752; received the tonsure and minor orders in the latter year; defended theology, June 26 and 27, 1753; received the sub-diaconate, Aug. 19, 1753, and in due course was ordained priest and returned to England. His first mission is not stated, but he came to Eccleston in 1757, with his sister, Miss Ellen Cliffe, to keep house for him. In 1760 a new chapel—dedicated to St. Laurence—was erected close to the old one in the Raikes, under the direction of Richard Leckonby, Esq., out of mission funds in his hands. In 1767, in a return made to the Bishop of Chester of the Catholics in the curacy of Copp Chapel, established in 1725, Mr. Cliffe's Great Eccleston congregation was estimated at 91, and it was stated that there were 184 Catholics at St. Michael's, the parish church, most of whom no doubt would belong to the Great Eccleston mission. In a similar official return made in 1717, the Catholics in St. Michael's parish were put down at 206. Mr. Cliffe commenced to keep a baptismal register on Dec. 27, 1771, and continued it till March 29, 1794. During a vacancy at Great Singleton, he undertook to look after that mission. In June, 1774, Bishop William Walton, coadjutor to Bishop Francis Petre, V.A.—N.D., made his visitation at Great Eccleston, and confirmed 114 persons.

Between this date and Oct. 1st following there are no entries in the register, but on the latter date the Rev. Philip Butler and Mr. Cliffe's sister Ellen appear as sponsors at the baptism of the son of a cadet of the Blackburnes of Stockenbridge Hall. Mr. Butler was secretary to Bishop Petre, by whom he was highly regarded, and it is probable that during the interval Mr. Butler temporarily supplied for Mr. Cliffe. Philip Butler, born Dec. 8, 1724, was the son of William Butler, gent., a cadet of the Butlers of Rawcliffe Hall, and his wife Dorothy, daughter of Hilary Ashton, of Out Rawcliffe, gent. He arrived at Douay College July 13, 1740, became an alumnus April 2, 1747, was ordained deacon Dec. 20, 1749, and priest Dec. 19, 1750, and left the college to succeed the Rev. Thomas Parkinson alias Golden at Blackbrook House, in Parr, the seat of James Orrell, Esq., on May 9, 1752. In 1754 he commenced to erect a new chapel adjoining the mansion at Blackbrook, and he continued in charge till his death Dec. 9, 1777, aged 53, his remains being interred within the walls of the old ruined chapel at Windleshaw. He bequeathed his library to the mission with express injunctions that it should be taken great care of by succeeding incumbents.

On Feb. 3, 1783, the vicar-general for Lancashire, the Rev. John Chadwick, informed Bishop Matthew Gibson, V.A.—N.D., that Mr. Cliffe's congregation numbered 200, and on Sept. 19, 1784, the bishop visited Eccleston, and gave confirmation to 37 persons, the communicants being returned at 185. On Jan. 8, 1787, there was another episcopal visitation. Some years earlier, in 1782, Mr. Cliffe, finding his strength failing, wrote to the Rev. Simon George Bordley, the vicar-general, for assistance, but it was not till 1795 that his request was granted in the person of the Rev. Henry Parkinson, who came from Lisbon in that year. Thus Mr. Cliffe continued till his death, Feb. 5, 1799, greatly lamented by his congregation. He had the reputation of being a good preacher and a most assiduous missioner. His sister, Miss Ellen Cliffe, survived him, and was provided by Mr. William Gillow with a cottage, which he bequeathed to her in his will, dated Dec. 9, 1813, and in which she resided till her death. Mr. Cliffe was succeeded by his assistant, the—

Rev. Henry Parkinson, who commenced a new volume of registers on July 19, 1795. He was the son of Thomas Parkinson, of Weeton in the Fylde, by Margaret Hodgkinson his wife, and was born Feb. 4, 1772. He was sent to the English College at Lisbon, where he was admitted on the Peres Fund, Oct. 23, 1784, became an alumnus on March 25, 1791, was ordained priest on April 5, 1795, and left for the mission at Eccleston six days later. It was apparently before Mr. Cliffe's death that he opened a small school, and amongst his later pupils were one or more of the sons of William Fitzherbert Brockholes, Esq., of Claughton Hall, Richard and William Walker, sons of William Walker, of Thistleton, and John and James Newsham from the Fylde. In 1801 the chapel was again partially rebuilt or enlarged under the supervision of Mr. William Gillow, and subsequently a gallery was added. Thus Mr. Parkinson continued till his death, Jan. 3, 1832, aged 60, his remains being interred at The Willows, Kirkham. His sister resided with him as housekeeper in the house in the Raikes, adjoining the old chapel, subsequently converted into schools. In appearance he was rather short than tall, with dark hair and eyes, and being near-sighted generally used an eye-glass. He dressed neatly, with gaiters and shorts, after the clerical fashion of the period. He was very mild in manner, and was a good, pious, and humble man, devotedly attached to his priestly duties. The ardent desire of his life was to see a suitable temple for his flock, and with this object in view he set apart all he could spare from his small income, and bequeathed it to his congregation. Some years before his death, Mr. Parkinson became infirm, and was much assisted in his duties by the Rev. Ralph Platt, of the neighbouring mission at Breck, near Poulton, which in 1813 had replaced the ancient Singleton mission. The Rev. John Billington, assistant to the Rev. Henry Gillow at St. Mary's, Mulberry-street, Manchester, was doing duty at Eccleston in Dec., 1830, as likewise the Rev. John Walker, of St. Patrick's, Liverpool, whilst on a visit to his father, Mr. William Walker, formerly of Thistleton, but then resident in Great Eccleston. Immediately after Mr. Parkinson's death, Bishop Penswick formally appointed a successor in the mission in the person of—

Rev. Ralph Platt, who had for some time supplied the wants of the congregation from Poulton. He was twin-brother to the Rev. James Platt, of Bishop Thornton, co. York, and son of John Platt, of Orford, near Warrington, brother of the Rev. Ralph Platt, of Puddington, co. Chester. His mother was Alice, daughter of Mr. John Rigby, of Fylde Plumpton, and his wife Ellen, daughter of Mr. Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall in Bartell, now known as Bartell Hall. He was born in 1785, and with his brother James was admitted into Crook Hall College, Sept. 27, 1801, and in due course finished his course at Ushaw, and was ordained priest. When the old chapel at Singleton was closed in 1812, a new one was erected at Breck, near Poulton, about three miles distant, on a site given by William Fitzherbert Brockholes, Esq., of Claughton Hall. This was opened in the autumn of 1814, and Mr. Platt was placed in charge of the new mission. As he practically had to take charge of the mission at Great Eccleston in 1830, he was granted an assistant at Poulton in the person of the Rev. Richard Brown, who succeeded him there when he took up his residence at Eccleston in 1831. His first care was to carry out the wishes of his predecessor, and in 1832 he commenced preparations for a new chapel with presbytery adjoining. On July 26, 1835, the present chapel, a square brick building, with circular-headed windows at the sides, was solemnly opened, and dedicated to St. Mary instead of the old patron St. Laurence. The Rev. Thomas Irving alias Sherburne and the Rev. Thomas Billington preached at the morning and afternoon services on the occasion. The accounts of the mission, dated Jan. 1, 1837, show that there had been received in respect of the building fund, £1,107 15*s.* 2½*d.*, and that the payments had been £1,238 5*s.* The chapel would seat 356 persons, inclusive of the gallery. Towards the close of 1835, Mr. Platt's health obliged him to resign the mission—he died soon afterwards—and his successor was—

Rev. Thomas Pinnington, born 1786, son of Thomas Pinnington and his wife Margaret, of Appleton, co. Lancaster. He was sent to Crook Hall, and, whilst in the school of philosophy, migrated with the collegians to Ushaw in 1808. After his ordination he was appointed assistant to the Rev. Valentine Longstaff alias Marmaduke Wilson at Appleton. Thence, in 1819, he went as chaplain to the Benedictine nuns at Heath Hall, co. York, in succession to the Rev. Samuel Sayles, who died there on the previous Dec. 4. In 1820 he was appointed to take charge of the ancient mission at Westby Hall in the Fylde, where he remained till July 18, 1830, when he resumed his former chaplaincy to the Benedictine nuns, who meanwhile, in 1821, had removed from Heath Hall to Orrell Mount, near Wigan, in which position he continued till his arrival at Eccleston in 1835. Here he remained till he was appointed chaplain to the convent at York Bar in February, 1838. Six months later he set out to pay a visit to the convent at Princethorpe, co. Warwick, to which the community at Orrell Mount had removed in 1835. Near Leeds he had a fall from the coach whilst recovering his hat, which had blown off, but he proceeded to the Royal Hotel in Briggate. There he left his luggage, and walked a short distance down the street, intending to visit the Catholic church then in erection, but suddenly collapsed and expired in Briggate, on Monday, July 16, 1838, aged 52. He was succeeded at Eccleston by—

Rev. Andrew Macartney, who remained from 1835 till August, 1839. His biography has already been given under Callaly (C.R.S., vol. vii, 321). He was succeeded by—

Rev. Henry Sharples, son of Mr. William Sharples, of Liverpool, timber merchant and shipbroker, and younger brother of the Rt. Rev. Bishop James Sharples. After his ordination at Ushaw, he was sent in 1835 to Martinscroft, near Warrington, and thence, early in 1838, to Berwick-on-Tweed, which he left in October of the same year for the Towneley Hall or Burnley Mission, and in 1839 came to Great Eccleston. He only remained six months, when he was transferred to Pleasington Priory, near Blackburn, where he stayed till 1844. Thence he went to Bootle till 1847, so to St. Mary's, Mulberry-street, Manchester, till his appointment to Alston Lane, near Preston, in May, 1850. There he erected a new chapel, dedicated to St. Michael, in 1857, and remained till his death, Feb. 17, 1874, aged about 62. It is noteworthy that his brother, Bishop Sharples, died whilst returning to Singleton after paying a visit to the presbytery at Great Eccleston, Aug. 11, 1850, and lies interred in a grave just in front of the entrance to the chapel.

Rev. Randolph Frith succeeded in 1839. He was the son of Mr. William Frith, of Sheffield, and his wife Alice, daughter of Mr. Robert Ball, of Dolphin Lee, near Lancaster, and was born in 1808. From the school kept by the Rev. Ralph Platt at Puddington Old Hall, co. Chester, he was sent to Sedgley Park in 1818, and thence proceeded to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest in 1835. His first mission was St. Augustine's, Manchester, whence he came to Eccleston. In 1842 he was transferred to St. Patrick's, Liverpool, whence he went to Edgeley, Stockport, in 1844. When the first chapter of Shrewsbury was created, he was appointed one of the canons, and so continued till the end of his life. He was at Edgeley during the 'No Popery' riots of 1852, when the church was nearly wrecked, and he remained there till 1879, when he took charge of the new mission at New Brighton, where he erected a church. In 1887 he retired from missionary duty to Orrell House, New Brighton, where he died July 25, 1893. His successor at Eccleston was—

Rev. Edward Francis Browne, eldest son of Mr. Edward Browne, of Preston, and his wife Alice, daughter of Mr. John Greenhalgh, of Blackburn, and sister of the Rev. Henry Canon Greenhalgh, of Weld Bank. He had five brothers priests. In 1828 he was sent to Sedgley Park, and thence proceeded to the English College at Lisbon, where he was admitted Dec. 24, 1829. After ordination, he left the college for the English mission Aug. 6, 1839, and was placed at Minster-Acres, co. Northumberland, the seat of the Silvertop family, whence he came to Great Eccleston in 1842. Four years later, in 1846, he was transferred to St. Werburgh's, Birkenhead. In 1852 he was appointed a canon of the new Shrewsbury chapter, of which he eventually became provost, and in 1857 he received the degree of D.D. In the latter year he was transferred to Wrexham, co. Denbigh, of which the new church, dedicated to St. Mary, was opened on Nov. 19 of that year. There he remained till his death, July 17, 1872. His successor at Great Eccleston was—

Rev. Walter Saunders Maddocks, who came in 1846 and stayed till 1860. He had been ordained at Ushaw, like his brother, the Rev. John Canon Maddocks, who died at Old Swan, Liverpool, Dec. 5, 1865, and his first charge seems to have been at Lea, where he stayed only four months, and thence went to Callaly Castle, Northumberland in January, 1826 (C.R.S., vol. vii, 322). Thence he was sent to Bishop Wearmouth, co. Durham, in 1827, whence after a brief stay he was transferred in the same year to Ellingham, co. Northumberland, and in 1828 to St. Chad's, Rook-street, Manchester. In 1829 he went to Ashton-in-Makerfield, where he remained till he came to Great Eccleston. Failing in health, he retired from missionary duty to Southport in 1860, but after a time assisted the Very Rev. Richard Dean Gillow some time previous to his death, at Fernyhalgh, on Aug. 16, 1864. In this last year he again took charge of Lea, which he served till 1867, when he withdrew to Newsham. In 1868 he retired in a declining state of health to Smethwick, near Birmingham, where he died April 15, 1869. Shortly before he left Great Eccleston in 1860, he was assisted by the Rev. William Fielding, who had been ordained at Lisbon in 1855 for the Westminster diocese, and had served at New-road, London, 1855–8, and at the Benedictine Convent at Hammersmith, 1858–9.

Rev. Edward Swarbrick succeeded Mr. Maddocks. Born Oct. 10, 1824, he was son of Edward Swarbrick, of Nateby House, near Garstang, yeoman, and his wife Margaret, daughter of James Newsham. In 1838 he was sent to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest May 25, 1850, and appointed assistant to the Rev. Thomas Cookson at St. Augustine's, Preston, of which he became rector in 1856, and in September, 1860, was transferred to Great Eccleston. Twelve years later, Mr. Anthony Hewitson, in his Country Churches and Chapels, states that there were 430 Catholics in Mr. Swarbrick's congregation, and that the average attendance at Mass was 250, and at Benediction in the afternoon from 140 to 150. In 1878 Mr. Swarbrick removed to Clifton Hill, Forton, a former seat of the Gillows, which had recently passed into the possession of Mrs. Fitzherbert Brockholes, who with her mother erected a chapel and founded an independent mission in that year to take the place of the old domestic chapel originally maintained by Robert Gillow, Esq., and his successors at the hall. Mr. Swarbrick's brother James was then in charge of the neighbouring mission at Thurnham. Owing to ill-health he retired from missionary duty in 1885, and took up his residence in Fulwood Park, Preston, where he died Jan. 10, 1893, aged 68. He was succeeded at Eccleston by—

Rev. Thomas Wells, born Jan. 14, 1844, son of John Wells, of Heaton, near Lancaster, yeoman, and Mary his wife, daughter of Peter Bradley, of Hole House, Claughton-in-Lonsdale, yeoman. He was ordained priest at Ushaw, June 4, 1871, and was sent for a short time to assist the Rev. Michael Hickey at Garstang, and thence in the same year went to St. Mary's, Wigan, where he continued till he was transferred to Eccleston in 1878. Here he passed the remainder of his life, being assisted during his last illness by the Jesuits from Ditton Hall, and died March 3, 1889, aged 44. He was buried in the chapel-yard. His successors since then have been—

Rev. Thomas Smith, 1889–96.

Rev. Henry Roberts, 1896–1911.

Rev. Thomas Dawson, 1911 to date.

In the presbytery are several objects of interest handed down from the times of persecution. Notably amongst them is a portable altar-stone, in a very rude oak frame, such as priests carried from house to house during the darkest days of the penal laws. It appears to date back to the reigns of Elizabeth or James I. There are also two ancient silver chalices of chaste design, one of them being a fine example of the silversmith's craft. According to tradition it was the gift of one of the Gillows. The other was presented in the early years of the eighteenth century by William Leckonby, Esq. The altar and reredos in the chapel were erected in 1869 by Miss Emma Mary Phipps, of Leckonby Cottage, Great Eccleston,—who died April 2, 1891, aged 79,—in memory of her mother, the heiress of the Leckonbys. The whole forms a really artistic structure in Caen stone and marble.

The registers have been transcribed by Mr. William Clement Kendall.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF S. ANDREW'S, COTTAM, PRESTON, LANCASHIRE. 1783–1834.

Contributed by the Rev. Joseph Albin Barker.

Historical Notes by Joseph Gillow.

The ancient family of Haydock provided a place of worship in their manor-house at Cottam, in the parish of Preston, for the persecuted Catholics of the neighbourhood from the date that Mass ceased to be said in the churches. According to tradition, priests were regularly sheltered in the venerable mansion, which was replete with hiding-places ready for use in case of sudden raid by pursuivants, and there is ample record of such having taken place. The Haydocks were descended from Henry de Haydock, of Tulketh Castle in Ashton-upon-Ribble, and lord of Cottam, younger son of Hugh de Haydock, lord of Haydock, whose descendant and representative through an heiress is the present Lord Newton, owner of Haydock, Newton, and other of the family estates. It was at Tulketh that the Cistercians from Savigny, in Normandy, settled in 1124, till they erected and removed to Furness Abbey three years later. Several members of both branches of the Haydocks sat in Parliament, and one of them, Sir Henry de Haydock, was the first Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the early part of the fourteenth century. John de Haydock, eldest son of Henry by Elena daughter of Adam de Hoghton, of Hoghton, died in the lifetime of his father, and one of his two daughters and coheiresses had as her portion Tulketh Castle, which remained for many generations in the possession of the lineal descendants of her husband, Lawrence de Travers, of Nateby Hall, M.P. for Preston in 1327. Cottam passed to John's younger brother, Robert de Haydock, M.P. for the Shire in 1299, to whose grandson, John de Haydock, was granted a license for an Oratory in his manor-house at Cottam by the Archdeacon of Richmond in the first half of the fourteenth century. His descendant, Vuane (Vivian) Haydock, grandnephew of the martyred Cistercian monk of Whalley Abbey, William Haydock, some twenty years after the death of his wife, whose sister was the wife of Cardinal Allen's brother, surrendered his estate to his eldest son, William Haydock, and with his younger sons Richard and George passed over, in 1573, to Douay College, where all three were ordained priests, the youngest being martyred at Tyburn in 1584. The old squire, referred to in Government records as "the fugitive," returned to England as a missioner in 1575, served in the Fylde, and is supposed to have died either at Mowbreck Hall or Cottam Hall about the time of his son George's martyrdom, after being much sought after by the Council and hunted by pursuivants. Dr. Richard Haydock was residing with his brother William at Cottam in and about 1584, and traditionally is said to have buried his father under the chapel in the hall. After ten years of missionary duty, playing hide and seek with the pursuivants, the Doctor returned to Rome, where he died in 1605. His brother, the Squire of Cottam, died at a great age, Aug. 4, 1624. His sister, Aloysia Haydock, was cruelly imprisoned for the faith in Salford Gaol in 1584, and died in consequence of her sufferings. The names of the priests who served the domestic chapel in Cottam Hall cannot be recovered till the arrival of—

Rev. John Hughes, who is found baptising at Cottam in 1653. The surname is probably an alias, and the Christian name possibly an error, as "John Hughes" cannot be identified in the collegiate or other records. A priest, however, of the name of "Thomas Hughes," or Hughson, was certainly serving in Amounderness, in which Cottam is situated, in 1675. He was a collector for the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund, to which in the following year he subscribed £10, and in 1691, possibly after his decease, another £20. He was probably succeeded by the priest whom he baptised—

Rev. John Bayne alias Peter Blacow and John Kendal, baptised by Mr. Hughes, of Cottam, Nov. 30, 1653, was the younger son of Richard Bayne, of Catforth in Woodplumpton, and his wife Jennet. His mother's maiden name was probably Blacow or Kendal, the latter being that by which Mr. Bayne was known on the mission. After studying humanities at Kirkham, he was sent to Rome, where he was admitted into the English College under the alias of Peter Blacow, Oct. 4, 1674. He was ordained priest April 9, 1678, but did not leave the college for the English mission until April 24, 1681, owing to the frenzied state of the country caused by the Oates Plot. It does not appear where he commenced his missionary labours, but it was probably somewhere in the Fylde, and soon after his arrival in Lancashire he subscribed £10 to the Clergy Fund. For some time he filled the chaplaincy at Cottam Hall, but in or about 1703 he took a barn in Woodplumpton, just over the border of Cottam manor, at no great distance from the hall, fitted it up as a chapel, and put it under the patronage of St. Andrew. After the unsuccessful rising in favour of the Chevalier de St. George and his defeat at Preston, a return was made by the high constable of Amounderness Hundred under date Oct. 17, 1716, from copies of those sent in five days earlier by the constables of the various townships in respect to Forfeited Estates and estates given to Superstitious Uses, etc. (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates Papers, L. 2), and Charles Hoghton, the constable for Lea, Ashton, Ingol, and Cottam, returned Joseph ffidler, a convicted rebel of no estate, and "fforfeited Estates wee know not of any. pop. prts. wee have none." William Willowsy, constable of the adjoining township of Woodplumpton, reported :—"John ffidler (son of ffrancis ffidler) Indicted ffor High Treason of Rebellion, but a man of no estate. Jo : Kendall als. Baine, a popish priest." The Squire of Cottam, William Haydock, had as a matter of fact taken part in the attempt to restore the throne to the rightful heir, but had escaped indictment. William Bilsborrow, of Woodplumpton, yeoman, summoned before the commissioners at Preston, "sworne this 18 July, 1718, saith that he let a Barne to John Baine alias Kendall, who hath fitted it up into a dwelling-house, and hath lived there 15 years, and hath heard him often say Mass there, and that he fitted it up for that purpose, and pays him £5, and that the contract expires in November next." John Woorden gave evidence to the same effect, and James Hume (Helme) swore that he "hath heard Bain preach and officiate at the altar" (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates Papers, M. 10). On the previous Jan. 15, 1716–7, the three unwilling informants, William Bilsborrow, of Woodplumpton, yeoman, John Worden, of Cottam, labourer, and James Helme, of Lea, yeoman, had been indicted and convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster sessions. In 1718, William Bilsborrow, in the registration of his estate as a Catholic non-juror, refers to his cottage and six acres of freehold land in Woodplumpton, and also to a barn and four acres of land in Cottam leased in 1685 to his late father, John Bilsborrow, with another property for three lives by William Haydock, the elder, Esq. The former property Mr. Bayne secured for the mission, and though actually situated in Bartell Quarter of Woodplumpton, it has ever since been known as Cottam Chapel. Here Mr. Bayne continued to minister to the wants of the Catholics of the neighbourhood till his death, April 25, 1727, aged 73. His will was proved at Lancaster by his brother, Edmund Bayne, of Catforth, in that year, the inventory being sworn under £19. Meanwhile he was assisted in the mission for some time by—

Rev. Gilbert Haydock, a younger son of the Squire of Cottam, William Haydock, the elder, and his wife Jane, daughter of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall, co. Lancaster, Esq., by Margaret, daughter of Roger Kirkby, of Kirkby Ireleth Hall, in the same county, Esq. He was born at Cottam Hall in 1682, and was sent to Douay College, where he took the oath of the alumni Sept. 8, 1703, defended universals Aug. 3, 4, and 5, 1705, went to Cambrai to receive the sub-diaconate Dec. 16, 1706, was ordained priest in 1708, and left the college for the mission in his native county in April, 1709 (Douay Diaries MSS.). On the mission it is recorded that his apostolic zeal and labours were attended with the happiest effects in the conversion and care of souls. Following upon the defeat of the Chevalier de St. George at Preston in 1715, a raid was made on Cottam Hall, and Gilbert Haydock was discovered hiding in a great oak tree in what was formerly the park at Cottam, the site of which is known to this day as "catch-field." He was seized and committed to Lancaster Castle, where he endured several months' incarceration on account of his sacred calling. Whilst still a prisoner he received the appointment of confessor to the English Augustinian nuns of the convent of St. Monica at Louvain, where, having obtained his release, he arrived on Aug. 1, 1716. On the 14th of the same month he arrived at Douay, with his socius, the Rev. John Melling, on a visit to his alma mater. Two years later he escorted to England two nuns of the family of the martyred Earl of Derwentwater to endeavour to preserve from confiscation their pensions, which had been paid hitherto out of the patrimony of the earl. Gilbert Haydock remained chaplain at Louvain till his death, Sept. 22, 1749, aged 67, his eulogy appearing at length in a printed mortuary bill issued by the religious ladies of the convent of St. Monica. Amongst his literary labours extant is a work entitled: "Eight Meditations for a Retreat to Religious. By Gilbert Haydocke, A.M.D.G. Ad usum Monialium Anglorum ex ordine Sancti Augustini Lovanii," MS., 1719. Shortly before the death of Mr. John Bayne alias Kendal, in 1727, it would appear that he was assisted by his relative, the Rev. Henry Kendal, who eventually succeeded to the charge of the mission—

Rev. Henry Kendal, born June 20, 1689, son of Mr. John Kendal, of Fulwood, near Preston, and his wife, Catherine Tomlynson, made his preparatory studies at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, and thence was sent to Douay College, where he became an alumnus Dec. 27, 1709, and after ordination was retained in the college as a professor, and taught philosophy and theology for some years. He left the college for the mission on Aug. 19, 1726, apparently to assist his relative at Cottam, upon whose death in the following year he succeeded to the mission, and was here when Bishop Williams made his visitation in Oct., 1728, when his lordship gave confirmation to members of the Cottam congregation at the neighbouring mission at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh. It is said that from Cottam he removed to Croxdale Hall, Durham, the seat of the Salvins. If so, he would probably succeed the Rev. William Errington, who died there Feb. 12, 1732, o.s. Thence he was transferred to Manchester, where he appears in Bishop Dicconson's list in 1741. From Manchester he had to attend the chapel at Sutton Hall, near Macclesfield, the seat of Viscount Fauconberg. During the illness which preceded his death, Mr. Kendal withdrew from Manchester to Our Lady's Well, Fernyhalgh, of which his brother, the Rev. George Kendal, D.D., was then in charge, and there he passed to his eternal reward, Oct. 29, 1752, aged 63, and was buried privately in the grounds in close proximity to the holy well. Mr. Kendal's successor at Cottam was—

Rev. John Cowban (Colborne) alias Butler, born about the feast of St. Michael, in Sept., 1701, probably son of Lawrence Colborne, of Freckleton in the Fylde, of which manor his ancestor, Butler Colborne, of Freckleton Hall, was lord in the seventeenth century (vide C.R.S., vi, 182). After making his elementary studies at the school kept by the priest at Ladywell, he was sent to St. Omer's College, whence at the end of rhetoric he was transferred to Douay College, where he arrived Sept. 5, 1722, and took the college oath April 18, 1723. At Douay, where he was known by the name of Butler, he was ordained priest March 27, 1728, and retained at the college, teaching grammar, poetry, and two courses of philosophy till he left July 12, 1732, to take charge of the mission at Cottam (Douay Diary MS.). In or about 1741 he was transferred to Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, and was appointed rural dean of Amounderness, and also, it is said, became one of Bishop Dicconson's grand-vicars for Lancashire. In August, 1744, he succeeded the Rev. John Debord alias Davison at New House, Eshe, co. Durham, and in November, 1748, he was transferred to Crathorne-in-Cleveland, co. York, in succession to the Rev. Sir William Anderson, and there remained till his death, Oct. 6, 1777, aged 76. Upon his removal from Cottam he was succeeded by—

Rev. John Harrison, born Sept. 21, 1714, son of John Harrison, of Lea, adjoining Cottam, yeoman, and his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Christopher Walmesley, of Preston (vide C.R.S., vi, 168). He was sent to Douay College, where he arrived in September, 1729, and there was ordained sub-deacon April 2, 1739, deacon April 1, 1741, and priest at Arras on the following Dec. 23, after which he left the college to take charge of the mission at Cottam. The retreat of Prince Charles in 1745 was followed by a wave of persecution, and "No Popery" mobs roamed about the country, destroying Catholic chapels and other property. After wrecking St. Mary's in Friargate, the ruffians marched to Cottam, and attacked Mr. Harrison's house and chapel, and though he resisted with intrepidity, both were burnt down, after which for two years no Mass was said at Cottam (Gillow, Haydock Papers). Mr. Harrison then removed to Towneley Hall, the seat of the Towneleys, which he served for thirty-three years, until his infirmities obliged him to retire from missionary labour in 1779, and he withdrew to the house of his brother Lawrence in Friargate, Preston, where he died on or about Jan. 16, 1780, aged 65. Until the chapel either was restored or a new one erected at Cottam, the Catholics of the district had to attend the neighbouring missions at Preston, Ladywell, Salwick Hall, Mowbreck Hall, and Newhouse, Newsham. The name of the next priest met with as serving Cottam was a—

Rev. Mr. Smith, whose first appearance is his election as a member of the Society of the Catholic Brethren in Preston Dec. 25, 1762, and in the following years is found as a recipient of funds from the Bilsborrow Charity issuing out of lands and tenements in Ashton-super-Ribble, devised by John Bilsborrow, son of the before-mentioned William Bilsborrow, of Woodplumpton. This is gathered from a portion of the accounts in the writer's possession, derived from the Haydocks of Leach Hall, who were trustees for the charity. Mr. Smith's identity has not been ascertained, the name possibly being an alias. At the same period, Fr. Joseph Smith, S.J., was rector of St. Mary's, Friargate, Preston, but considering that Cottam was a secular mission it seems somewhat unlikely that he was identical with the Mr. Smith who served there, especially as there were two elections of a "Mr. Smith" as members of the Catholic Brethren, the one as recorded above, and the other on Jan. 2, 1763. Meanwhile the chapel at Cottam had been restored or a new one erected, for during the great election riot at Preston in 1768, it was again nearly destroyed by a "No Popery" mob from the town, after which the mission once more seems to have been discontinued for a short period. On the same occasion Fr. Joseph Smith's chapel in Friargate likewise was sacked, and though for the time being he escaped with his life, his death took place on May 1st of that year at the early age of 43. In the previous year, 1767, an official return was made by the vicar of Preston to the Bishop of Chester, estimating the number of Catholics in Woodplumpton at 276, and that of Fr. Smith's congregation at Preston at 1,043. Notwithstanding, it is not impossible that Cottam should have been served by the Jesuits from Preston after the destruction of the chapel in 1745. Eventually Mr. Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall, and two other members of the congregation, repaired the chapel and house, and in 1769 Bishop Petre, V.A.—N.D., was persuaded to send another priest in the person of—

Rev. John Lund, born at Bartell in Woodplumpton, in 1733, grandson of Anthony Lund, of Midgeall in Myrescough, who was sent to Douay College in 1750, became an alumnus April 13, 1754, was ordained priest in December, 1759, left the college for England May 21, 1760, and after a brief rest-cure was appointed to Swinburn Castle, Northumberland, the seat of the Riddells. Thence he was transferred to Lartington Hall, co. York, the seat of the Maire family, where he remained till the beginning of 1769, in which year he took charge of the Cottam mission. On Feb. 3, 1783, Bishop Matthew Gibson's grand-vicar in Lancashire, the Rev. John Chadwick, of Weld Bank, near Chorley, reported to his lordship that Mr. Lund had 190 communicants at Cottam. On the following Nov. 7th he commenced a new register of baptisms. On Sept. 10, 1784, the bishop made his visitation and confirmed 60 members of the congregation, and Mr. Lund returned his communicants at 206. In 1793 he erected the present chapel, dedicated to St. Andrew, and continued in charge till his death, June 24, 1812, aged 79, and was buried within the sacred edifice. Mr. Lund was rural dean of Amounderness, and was esteemed a good preacher. He was never very robust, even as a student he had to leave Douay for a time to recuperate his health, and his register shows that he had to be assisted for some months in 1799 by the Rev. James Carter alias Mawdesley, of the neighbouring mission of Newhouse, and the Rev. John Daniel, who is noticed under Salwick Hall. His successor, Mr. Caton, also refers in the register to the long illness which preceded Mr. Lund's death.

Rev. Thomas Caton, a native of the neighbouring township of Broughton, and a Lisbonian priest, noticed elsewhere under the registers of Culcheth Hall, came from Burnley to take charge of the mission at Cottam on or about July 24, 1812, as stated in the new register which he commenced. He remained until his death Aug. 14, 1826, aged almost 70, and was interred within his chapel. He was succeeded by—

Rev. Thomas Berry, who, also noticed under Culcheth Hall, arrived at Cottam from Crosby, Oct. 25, 1826, the mission having been attended during the vacancy by the Rev. Joseph Bryan Marsh, of Newhouse. During Mr. Berry's incumbency he erected the priest's house adjoining the chapel. In the beginning of 1845 he withdrew to Great Crosby, where he finished his career Aug. 29, 1851, aged 85. Before the arrival of the next incumbent it would appear that Cottam was served for a brief interval by the Rev. Thomas Irving alias Sherburne, of The Willows, Kirkham.

Rev. John Dixon, born in Kendal, where his father, a weaver, was converted by the Rev. Thomas Wilkinson. He was sent to Ushaw, whence he proceeded to Rome, but the climate disagreeing with him, he returned to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest, and was appointed to succeed the Rev. James Lawrenson at Scorton, Nov. 12, 1826, and, in turn, was succeeded by the Rev. John Woodcock, Nov. 9, 1830. He went on Aug. 22, 1831, to Westby Hall, which he served till Christmas, 1844. He then supplied temporarily at Southport, and in the summer of 1845 came to Cottam. Early in 1852 it became evident that his health had entirely broken down, so in April the bishop appointed a successor, and Mr. Dixon retired to live with his friend, Dom. E. V. Dinmore, O.S.B., at The Hill Chapel, Goosnargh, where he died June 3, 1852, aged 53.

Rev. George J. A. Corless, D.D., a member of an old Lancashire recusant family (vide C.R.S., vi, 254), according to the register of the college arrived at Crook Hall from Middleton, Lancashire, Nov. 16, 1803, and his brother Joseph on Oct. 9, 1805. He removed with the collegians to Ushaw in 1808, and after ordination was placed in 1816 at Crathorne-in-Cleveland, co. York. From thence he directed many controversial letters to the Catholic press, and also published in 1827 a reply to the Rev. George Townsend's attack on the Catholic bishops' Declaration, as likewise an answer to a work against Transubstantiation by the Rev. J. S. Faber (Gillow, Biog. Dict. Eng. Caths., i, 571–2). Subsequently, in recognition of his literary labours, his holiness conferred upon him the degree of D.D. In 1833 he was transferred from Crathorne to Bolton-le-Moors, Lancashire, and afterwards served Ellingham, Northumberland, 1834–5; Haggerston Castle, in the same county, 1835–7; Osbaldeston, Lancashire, 1837–9; Thropton Hall, Northumberland, 1839–52, thence serving Biddleston about 1840–1; and finally came to Cottam in 1852, and was appointed the first missionary-rector. Here he made great improvements to the chapel, adding a new sanctuary and sacristy, as well as the green-house adjoining the presbytery. He also laid out a small cemetery, in the centre of which he erected a handsome cross for his own resting-place, inscribed to his memory, with blanks left for the insertion of the dates of his demise. He died of dropsy, Nov. 1, 1865, aged 73, and was interred as he had directed. He was succeeded by—

Rev. Roger Taylor, born July 7, 1828, at Lodge Hall, Warton in the Fylde, which his father, George Taylor, farmed under the Cliftons of Lytham. Subsequently the farmstead was remodelled, enlarged, and converted into a residence for the present venerable occupier, Mr. Augustus Wykeham Clifton, and renamed Warton Lodge. Mr. Taylor was educated at Ushaw, and was ordained priest May 17, 1856, his first appointment being as curate at St. Augustine's, Preston. In 1863 he was instructed by the bishop to establish a new mission in Ribbleton

Lane, in the same town, and on June 18, 1864, the foundation-stone of a school-chapel dedicated to St. Joseph was laid by Joseph Gillow, Esq. From Preston, in the following year, Mr. Taylor removed to Cottam, but his health breaking down, and being obliged to have assistance, he resigned the mission in 1867, and withdrew to Moor Park, Preston, to reside with his brother, Canon James Taylor. In 1870 he went to be curate to Dean Hines at The Willows, Kirkham, whence he was given the charge of the mission at Lytham in 1874. There he died Sept. 9, 1885, aged 57. He was succeeded at Cottam by—

Rev. Henry J. Thrower, born near Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, Aug. 7, 1824, studied for eight years at the Benedictine College at Douai, whence he passed in April, 1847, to Oscott College, where he was ordained priest June 2, 1849, and for over a year was retained in the college as a professor. He was then appointed military chaplain at Weedon Barracks, Northamptonshire, in 1850, made a canon of Northampton in 1852, and left Weedon for Stoke-by-Nayland, Suffolk, in 1853. When the fever epidemic broke out in the north of England, and a number of priests at Newcastle-upon-Tyne had succumbed, Canon Thrower volunteered to serve in the city, and went to St. Mary's in 1854. In 1856 he went to Shefford, Bedfordshire, whence he retired in ill-health in 1858. Three years later he was appointed to the Catholic Institute at Liverpool, in 1861, and thence came to Cottam in 1866 to assist Mr. Taylor, whom he succeeded in the following year. Here he remained till 1885, when his health, never strong, entirely broke down, and he retired from missionary duty to Lytham, where he died March 14, 1891, aged 68, and was buried at Cottam. His successor was—

Rev. Mgr. Francis John Gillow, born Sept. 25, 1852, the fourth son of Richard Thomas Gillow, of Leighton Hall, co. Lancaster, Esq., J.P., by Mary Anne, daughter of Charles Eyston, of East Hendred, co. Berks., Esq., J.P. and D.L., high sheriff co. Berks. 1831. He was educated at Ushaw, where he was ordained priest Oct. 3, 1880, and served as curate at St. Oswald's, Old Swan, Liverpool, then, 1881–3, at St. Vincent de Paul's, Liverpool, 1883–5 at Garston, and in the latter year was given the charge of Cottam. Here he made many improvements, especially to the sanctuary, which he enlarged, and remained until the retirement in 1895 of the Very Rev. Provost Frederick Hines from The Willows, Kirkham, whom he succeeded, and is the present rector of that important mission. Since Mgr. Gillow left Cottam it has been served by the present rector—

Rev. Joseph Albin Barker, ordained priest at Ushaw Oct. 3, 1875, who came to Cottam in 1895. J. G.

The three books of registers are all thin books with stiff paper covers. The first measures $8 \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and contains 32 pages, of which the first is blank. The second measures $7\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{3}{4}$ inches, and contains 44 pages, of which the first 41 are for baptisms, and the last three for confirmations. The third book measures $7 \times 4\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and has 94 pages, 48 in the first half and 46 in the second half. The tenth leaf does not go through, and therefore there is one missing between pages 76 and 77; but as the last entry on p. 76 is March 16th, and the first on p. 77 is May 14th, it would appear that it was a fault in the making of the book, or at any rate the leaf was missing before the book was used. The first 86 pp. are baptisms, then three blanks, and the last five confirmations. They are now in my possession at Cottam. J. A. B.

No. IV.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF SALWICK AND LEA IN THE FYLDE, CO. LANCASTER. 1775–1837.

CONTRIBUTED BY J. P. SMITH.

HISTORICAL NOTES BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

SALWICK.

Clifton-cum-Salwick is situated within the old chapelry of Lund, formerly a chantry founded and belonging to the Cliftons, within the parish of Kirkham, and it was only constituted a parish, with Newton-cum-Scales, in 1840. From time immemorial it has been held by the knightly family of Clifton, save for a brief period after the death of Cuthbert Clifton in 1512, when the estates passed through his only daughter and heiress to Sir William Molyneux, of Sefton, whose only son by this marriage, Thomas Molyneux, resided at Clifton Hall, and after death was succeeded by his sister and heiress, who in 17th Hen. VIII (1525–6) married Henry Halsall, of Halsall. She died in 1589, and her son Richard resided at Halsall, and though vice-chamberlain of Chester and a justice of the peace, was only outwardly "conformable" to the new Establishment, being reported to the privy council in 1590 as "otherwise of no good note in religion." His natural son, Sir Cuthbert Halsall, inherited his grandmother's Clifton estates in 1589, and eventually succeeded to Halsall, which he sold and retired to Salwick Hall towards the close of his life. He was a staunch recusant till his death in 1619. His widow Dorothy, natural daughter of Henry Stanley, 4th Earl of Derby, by Jane Halsall, of Knowsley, continued to reside at Salwick, and appears in the recusant rolls as late as 11 Car. I (1635–6). Sir Cuthbert Halsall's daughter and eventual heiress, Ann, married Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall, son of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby and Lytham, and thus restored Clifton and Salwick to its ancient lords. Thomas Clifton had a younger brother, Fr. Cuthbert Clifton alias Norreys, S.J., who spent most of his missionary career in Lancashire, and no doubt frequently said Mass at Salwick Hall. He reconciled to the Church James Stanley, 7th Earl of Derby, shortly before that loyal and gallant nobleman was executed by the Parliamentary rebels at Bolton in 1651. The good Father eventually died chaplain at Garswood in 1675, aged 64. After Dame Dorothy Halsall's death, Salwick Hall was either occupied by junior members of the Clifton family, or leased to Catholic tenants, and the site of the old chapel in the Wood Meadow, of which considerable remains existed in the early part of last century, is still regarded as "holy ground." It is probable that the chapel at Salwick Hall was regularly served, and the hall rarely without a resident priest, throughout the dark ages of persecution, down to the death of the Rev. Robert Langstaff alias Wilson in 1798, after which the mission was removed to Lea. Not far from the hall was another residence belonging to the estate called Ward's House, which was long occupied by a younger branch of the Cliftons, of whom were several Jesuits (vide C.R.S., vi, 194). There was a chapel in the house, and Mass was frequently said in it. After the Cliftons left it, early in the eighteenth century, it was tenanted by various Catholic families, and eventually by the Smiths. One of them, John Smith, joined Prince Charlie in 1745, and was imprisoned in Lancaster Castle. He had married, in 1720, Agnes, daughter of Christopher Parkinson, of Singleton, and dying in 1759, was succeeded by his son James, whose wife Jennet was daughter of Cuthbert Threlfall, of Eaves, in Woodplumpton. James died at Ward's House, June 21, 1810, aged 81, and his wife May 14, 1802, aged 67. They had two sons priests, James and Thomas, both of whom appear in the Lea registers. These two frequently said Mass in the chapel at Ward's House, as remembered by their niece, the mother of the present writer, and there the congregation generally attended after the chapel in the hall was closed until the new chapel was opened at Lea. Meanwhile the mission at Salwick Hall was served by the following priests :—

Rev. Robert Swarbrick alias Walker, son of William Swarbrick, of Great Singleton, and his wife Lucy Walker, was admitted into the English College at Rome April 24, 1694, aged 19, received the subdiaconate and diaconate in Feb. and March, and the priesthood April 10, 1700. He left the college for that at Douay April 12, 1701 (Foley, Records, vi, 445), and there taught rudiments till the close of the following year. He then came to the mission, and was appointed to Salwick Hall, unless there be some confusion between him and his cousin, the Rev. John Swarbrick, who will be noticed under Crow Hall, Newsham, whence it has been said that he occasionally served Salwick Hall. When the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates came down to Lancashire after the Rising of 1715, Richard Singleton, the tenant of Salwick Hall, was summoned before them on July 18, 1718, and in his affidavit "saith that he rents Sowick Hall of Sir Tho. Clifton at the yearly rent of £71, and hath rented it for 8 years, and pays his rent to his steward ; that Mr. Swarbrick hath frequently said Mass there" (P.R.O., "Information of various parties as to houses having Mass performed in them," v, Report, Appendix ii, p. 15, M. 10). Mr. Swarbrick probably served Salwick till he succeeded his uncle, the Rev. James Swarbrick, who was apprehended in the house of Richard Gillow at Great Singleton, and died a prisoner in Lancaster Castle, and at Singleton Mr. Robert Swarbrick remained till his death, Feb. 23 or 24, 1736–7. Who was his immediate successor at Salwick is not certain, but the next priest on record was—

Rev. James Gaunt, to be noticed under Garstang, who seems to have served both Salwick and Mowbreck Halls. He died at Salwick Hall Nov. 26, 1734. In the following autumn he was succeeded by—

Rev. Simon George Bordley, born Oct. 28, 1709 (Douay Diaries, p. 59), son of William Bordley, of Thurnham, yeoman, a Catholic nonjuror in 1717, who probably went from Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh to Douay College, where he arrived in July, 1727, and on the following Oct. 1st commenced the scholastic year in rhetoric with Alban Butler, who had been his schoolfellow at Fernyhalgh, John Turberville Needham, and others, who subsequently became famous. On Oct. 3, 1728, he became an alumnus, was ordained subdeacon in 1731, deacon March 4, 1732, and priest April 24, 1734, being retained as a professor in the college till he left for the mission on Sept. 13, 1735 (Douay Prefect's Lists, MS.). He was placed at Salwick Hall, and also had charge of the mission of Mowbreck Hall. At Salwick he established a boarding-school, and prepared many pupils for the colleges at Douay, Lisbon, and Valladolid. He probably removed for a very brief period to The Wood, in Melling, a seat of the Molyneux family of Mosborough Hall, during the troubles of 1745, whence he was transferred on August 28, 1746, to Moor Hall, in Aughton, a seat of the Stanleys of Hooton Hall, and there he re-established his school, in which he had the assistance of various masters, including Peter Newby, in and about 1766. When Lady Stanley came in 1784 to occupy Moor Hall, Mr. Bordley removed to Newhouse, Aughton, and erected a boarding-school at Ince Blundell, which he placed under the direction of Mr. Hewitt, assisted by Mr. John Berry and other masters. There he frequently had as many as seventy or eighty scholars. In this way, and in various literary pursuits, as well as in his missionary duties, Mr. Bordley employed his time and money during a long life, in the course of which he himself says, the moneys received or saved amounted to £5,170 18*s.* 0*d.* Towards the close of his career he became almost blind, in 1798 retired to Liverpool, and died at Holywell Nov. 3, 1799, aged 90 (Westm. Archives, Chapter Deceased Brethren, MS.). Mr. Bordley, with some eccentricities, was a very zealous and laborious missionary, and a learned man (Gillow, Biog. Dict., i, 272–4). In his old age he published several works on shorthand, and through attention being called to this by the present writer, a "Memoir of Simon Bordley, author of 'Cadmus Britanicus,' 1787, the first Script System of Shorthand," was published in 1890 by his friend, John Westby Gibson, LL.D., the founder of the International Shorthand Congress, who also issued a reproduction in facsimile of Bordley's "Cadmus Britanicus," of which only four copies were extant. Mr. Bordley was succeeded at Salwick by—

Rev. John Debord alias Davison, born Jan. 24, 1715, in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and probably maternally connected with the Davisons of Blackeston, whose name he assumed. He arrived at Douay College from Newcastle in September, 1729, being entered in the books as "de Borde." He became an alumnus May 25, 1734, received minor orders April 20, 1737, the subdiaconate May 29, 1738, the diaconate in 1739, was ordained priest Dec. 12, of the latter year, and left the college Nov. 15, 1740, for the mission, where he was always known as Davison. He was given charge of New House, Esh, co. Durham, where he arrived Dec. 10, 1740, and had a salary of £30. During the troubles ensuing upon the raid of Prince Charlie in 1745, and the renewal of anti-Catholic feeling, an almost general shuffle of missioners became absolutely necessary for their personal safety, and Mr. Davison was transferred by the bishop to Moor Hall, in Aughton, serving Ince Blundell and Formby as well, whence in August, 1746, he came to Salwick Hall, and thence served Mowbreck Hall, a seat of the Westbys. In a return to the Bishop of Chester in 1767, Mr. Davison's congregation was estimated at 182, above the age of sixteen. In June, 1774, Bishop William Walton made his visitation at Salwick, and confirmed 88 persons. Thus he continued till his death at Salwick Hall Sept. 29, 1775, aged 60. Mr. Davison was a good Greek, Hebrew, and mathematical scholar, and a sound theologian, yet modest, and never ostentatious (Kirk, Biographies, pp. 63, 259, 263). He was succeeded by—

Rev. William Husband, born Oct. 13, 1743, son of William Husband, of Grain House, Giggleswick, co. York, by Anne daughter of Henry Faithwaite, of Pott Yeats, Littledale, in Caton, co. Lancaster, who arrived at Douay College July 7, 1759, and was placed in grammar. He was ordained subdeacon in 1767, deacon in 1768, and priest in 1769, after which he was appointed professor of poetry on Oct. 1 of that year, of rhetoric on Oct. 1, 1770, and on July 30, 1771, left the college for the mission. He was placed at Great Singleton in place of Peter Wareing, who had apostatised in the previous year, and had informed against his old school-fellow, Mr. Davison, who for a time had to seek refuge in flight from Salwick Hall. Upon the latter's death in 1775, Mr. Husband was transferred from Singleton to Salwick, where he commenced the registers on Oct. 8 of that year. Thus he continued till he was infected by smallpox, whilst attending the sick, and died at Salwick Hall Aug. 10 or 26, 1779, aged 35. He bequeathed £10 to the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund, and his mother, Mrs. Anne Husband, by will dated Aug. 8, 1779, devised £500 to her executors, Thomas Winder Faithwaite and James Taylor, for an ecclesiastical education fund at Douay College for the benefit of the Northern Vicariate, more especially for Lancashire, her declaration of trust being dated Oct. 13, 1785 (West Derby Hundred Records, MS.). Mr. Husband was succeeded by—

Rev. Robert Langstaff alias Wilson, born March 23, 1736, son of Robert Langstaff and his wife Mary Wilson, of Rokeby Close, in the parish of Hutton Long Villiers, co. York, Esq., who followed his elder brother, the Rev. Valentine Langstaff alias Marmaduke Wilson to Douay College in 1751. His brother was ordained priest in 1758, and after being a professor left the college for the mission Sept. 11, 1760. Robert entered his first year's theology on Oct. 1, 1761, but during the course was transferred to St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, where he was ordained priest, and in due course came to the mission. Where he first served does not appear, but after the death of Mr. Husband he succeeded him, and arrived at Salwick Hall Oct. 10, 1780, the mission having been served during the interval by neighbouring priests. In February, 1783, Mr. Wilson returned his communicants at 200, and on Sept. 22, 1784, Bishop Matthew Gibson, V.A—N.D., made his visitation, and confirmed 47 persons in the chapel at Salwick Hall, when Mr. Wilson returned his communicants at 210. Thus he continued till his death at Salwick Hall Jan. 14, 1798, aged 61. Mr. Wilson was very highly respected, and his death was widely regretted. He bequeathed his freehold estate at Dalton, co. York, then bringing in £26 per annum, and his personal estate to the amount of £1,800 for the establishment of a fund for ecclesiastical education at Douay College, "if such there be," and "if not at such place as shall be appointed for the education of priests for the Northern District," with preference for the descendants of Thomas Richardson-Cowley, of Widnes Hall, co. Lancaster, to the descendants of James Singleton, of Lea Hall, yeoman, and to those of James Orrell, of Blackbrook House, Esq., and in default of such the nomination of candidates by the authorities to rest with the recommendation of the clergy of Salwick Hall and neighbourhood as to two-thirds of the estate, and one-third to be administered by the clergy of Yorkshire. The fund is now at Ushaw. His sister, Miss Elizabeth Langstaff, of Richmond, co. York, also established a fund of £400 at Ushaw in 1818, and his brother Anthony Langstaff, Esq., likewise left a fund. Meanwhile, from the registers it appears that Mr. Wilson was temporarily assisted by the Rev. William Blackoe, noticed under Cottam, about Jan., 1781, and the Rev. John Lund, of Cottam, in June, 1789. Immediately after Mr. Wilson's death, the mission was served for a few months by—

Rev. John Daniel, born Nov. 16, 1755, son of John Daniel, of Durton, in Broughton, co. Lancaster, gent., and his wife Anne Blackoe (Douay Diaries, p. 78), who, after studying at Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh, was admitted into the English College at Rome Jan. 25, 1768, by Fr. William Hothersall, S.J., the last Jesuit rector. After the suppression of the Society in 1773, and the dismissal of the English and the introduction of the Italian superiors into the college, Mr. Daniel, at his own request, and with the permission of the Cardinal Protector, left on Jan. 28, 1774, for Douay College, with the obligation of taking the oath of the alumni, and continuing his studies (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 503). He arrived at Douay and entered logic on March 30, 1774, was ordained subdeacon in 1778, deacon in 1779, and priest in 1780, and left the college for the mission Feb. 5, 1781 (Douay Prefect's Lists, MS.). He succeeded the Rev. William Gibson to the chaplaincy at Minsteracres, Northumberland, the seat of Albert Silvertop, Esq., but only remained a few months, going thence to Stockton-on-Tees, whence he served Darlington, co. Durham. After Mr. Wilson's death in January, 1798, Mr. Daniel appears to have paid a lengthened visit to Salwick, and his name is found in the registers from Feb. 11 to April 27. After this he returned to his mission at Stockton, where he died Feb. 17, 1802, aged 46 (Chapter Deceased Brethren, MS.).

Upon Mr. Wilson's death, his brother, the Rev. Valentine Langstaff alias Marmaduke Wilson, came from Appleton, co. Lancaster, to wind up the mission at Salwick Hall, which, as related by the Rev. George Leo Haydock under Westby, the reigning lord of the manor, John Clifton, unhappily, suppressed. Mr. Wilson delivered the altar plate and vestments into the charge of Mr. John Gradwell, the tenant-farmer of Clifton Hall, or Hall-yards, as it was then called. Mr. Clifton claimed them, and contested the matter in the ecclesiastical courts at Chester, but was defeated by Mr. Gradwell, who, it is said, maintained the suit at his own cost. The chapel appears to have been closed about June, 1798, and Mr. Wilson returned to Appleton, where he died Jan. 24, 1823, over 90 years of age. Three members of the congregation, Mr. Gradwell, Mr. George Gillow, of Moor House, Newton-cum-Scales, and Mr. James Smith, of Ward's House, Salwick, purchased a site for the erection of an independent chapel and priest's house in the adjoining hamlet of Lea, just outside Mr. Clifton's influence, but it was not opened till 1800, and meanwhile Mass was usually said at Ward's House. It is noteworthy that two bishops came from the Salwick mission, the Rt. Rev. Robert Gradwell, D.D., coadjutor bishop of the London Vicariate, who was born at Hall-yards, Clifton, Jan. 26, 1777, and his cousin, the Rt. Rev. George Hilary Brown, first Bishop of Liverpool, born at Clifton Jan. 13, 1786. Before continuing the account of the Mission at Lea Town, some account must be traced of its earlier history.

LEA.

The manor of Lea originally belonged to the Lancasters, barons of Kendal, lineally descended from Ivo Talbois, Earl of Angiers, in France, and Baron of Kendal, temp. William the Conqueror. The manor was divided, and became known as French and English Lea, after Warren de Lancaster's grant about 1230 of one moiety to his son, Henry de Lea, and the other to Avicia his daughter. Sir Richard de Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower, married Sibylla, daughter of William de Lea, who died in 1302, and after her brother, Sir Henry de Lea, had been beheaded for his part in the rebellion of 1315, she became heiress to French Lea. Avicia de Lea married Adam de Hoghton, of Hoghton, Sir Richard's father, and his daughter Elena carried the other moiety of Lea, subsequently known as English Lea, and a moiety of the adjoining manor of Ashton, including Tulketh Castle, the manor-house, in marriage to Henry de Haydock, of Cottam Hall, second son of Hugh de Haydock, lord of Haydock. From this period The Lea, otherwise known as Lea Hall, became a residence of the Hoghton family, and was so in the time of Sir Richard de Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. who witnessed the complete overthrow of the ancient Church and the Establishment of the new religion. His son Thomas, unable to reconcile his conscience to the change, and moved to that end by his cousin, Vivian Haydock, the squire of Cottam, and William Allen, subsequently cardinal, repaired to The Lea in 1569, and thence embarked in a small vessel, probably from Pool Foot or Skippool, and after a stormy passage lasting sixteen days and nights arrived at one of the French ports, whence he travelled to Antwerp, and died an outlaw in exile at Liége in 1580 (Haydock Papers). Thomas Hoghton's wife was Catherine, daughter of Sir Thomas Gerard, of The Bryn, and their only daughter and ultimate heiress, Jane, became the wife of James Bradshaigh, of The Haigh, Esq. Four years later the old squire of Cottam, Vivian Haydock, resigned his estate to his son William, whose wife was a daughter of Sir Richard de Hoghton, and half-sister to the exile, and following the latter's example passed over to France, and was ordained priest at Douay. On Nov. 21, 1575, he set out from the college to risk his life on the English mission, and chiefly ministered to the wants of Catholics at The Lea, where he was reported by a spy to have frequented in 1584 (P.R.O., Dom. Eliz., clxxv, No. 21), Barton Hall, Cottam Hall, and Mowbreck Hall, where he is said to have died in or about 1584. Thomas Hoghton's brother and heir, Alexander, resided chiefly at The Lea, and continued to harbour priests for the service of his domestic chapel till his untimely death in August, 1581. The Lea constantly appears in the reports of spies as a place harbouring priests, and it was in 1581 that it was visited by the blessed martyr, Fr. Edmund Campion, S.J., who preached to the crowds that pressed to have conference with him. After the tragic death of yet another of the exile's half-brothers, also named Thomas Hoghton, who was slain at The Lea by Thomas Langton, Baron of Newton, in 1589, his young son and heir Richard, subsequently knight and baronet, was given in ward to Sir Gilbert Gerard, Master of the Rolls, who married him to his daughter, whilst still a minor, and brought him up a Protestant. The younger Thomas Hoghton's widow—grand-daughter of Sir Henry Keighley, of Inskip Hall, co. Lancaster, and Keighley, co. York—continued to reside at The Lea, brought up her younger children Catholics, and was frequently reported to the Council as a harbourer of priests. Richard Blundell, who possibly was a priest, is thus referred to by James Young alias Thomas Christopher and George Bingley, an apostate priest and informer, in October, 1592: "Mrs. Houghton of the Lea hathe kepte sithsince the deathe of her husbande one Richard Blundell, Brother to Willm Blundell of Crosbie, Armig^r^, who is an obstinate Papiste, well acquainted with a number of Seminaries, and he teacheth her children to singe and plaie upon the Virginalls" (P.R.O., Dom. Eliz., vol. ccxliii, No. 52). Further on in the same report the spy says: "Mrs. Houghton of the Lea received Alexander Gerrarde, she came to him and Howes the Semynarie in the feilde [Fylde] country as I have hearde, and it is consonant to reason, for sithsince she hathe bin soche a notorious Recusante, and Alexander is her neare kynsman, how can it be thoughte that shee hathe not received him and others to, well she received me and bothe w^che^ sithsince the laste statute. I suppose her livinge is worthe a thousande pounds a yeare." Alexander Gerard, third son of William Gerard, of Ince Hall, Esq., by Jane, daughter of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall, was at Douay and Rheims, whence he was ordained priest at Laon April 5, 1586, and left the college for the mission in England Jan. 2, 1587 (Douay Diaries, pp. 180, 198, 207, 209, 214, 263; Gillow, Biog. Dict., ii, 433–4). In August, 1588, he was reported as serving the chapel at Rixton Hall, the seat of William Mascy, Esq. (P.R.O., Dom. Eliz., ccxv, No. 79). Soon afterwards both he and his brother Thomas, also a priest, were apprehended, and in September, 1588, the Council ordered them to be sent up to London to stand their trials for treason and other matters (C.R.S., v, 165). From Bridgewater (Concertatio Eccles., 1594) it appears that Alexander was exiled. He returned to Lancashire, however, and as recorded was at The Lea in 1592. Again he was apprehended, and in April, 1598, he is found a prisoner with his brother Thomas in Wisbech Castle. Thomas certainly died there, a confessor of the Faith, and probably Alexander as well, as his name had disappeared from the list of prisoners in 1610. Howes, the name of the other priest received at The Lea in 1592, was probably an alias. Mrs. Hoghton subsequently married Sir Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, but had no issue by him, and she seems to have resided much at The Lea, where she died Oct. 30, 1609, aged 60, having regularly appeared in the recusant rolls to the last year of her life. About the time of her death, her fourth son, Adam Hoghton, was living at The Lea, and the benefit of his recusancy was granted by James I to the rapacity of two of his Majesty's parasitical followers, Markey and Webbes, Jan. 19, 1609 (P.R.O., Dom. James I, xliii, 29). No doubt records of other priests serving the chapel in Lea Hall could be found, and possibly at a later date, for though soon after this it ceased to be occupied by members of the Hoghton family, it was generally tenanted by Catholics down to a recent period. After the chapel at Salwick Hall was closed in 1798, the congregation usually attended Mass at Ward's House, and occasionally at Moor House, the residence of George Gillow, till the new chapel in Lea Town was opened in 1800, after which it was served as follows :—

Rev. James Smith, born Dec. 25, 1775, son of James Smith, formerly of Hazleheads, but latterly of Ward's House, Salwick, who was sent to the English College at Valladolid in Spain, where he was ordained priest and came to reside with his father at Ward's House, and superintended the erection of the new chapel—dedicated to St. Mary—and priest's house in Lea Town, to which he was appointed by the bishop. Here Mr. Smith remained till his health broke down and he exchanged missions with the Rev. James Haydock, chaplain to the Traffords of Trafford House, near Manchester, in 1807. His health, however, grew worse, and in the following year he had to retire from missionary duty, and eventually died in the asylum at Manchester, Jan. 26, 1827, aged 51. During his ministration at Lea he was temporarily assisted by his brother, the Rev. Thomas Smith, born July 1, 1777, who accompanied him to Valladolid in Oct., 1788, and was there ordained priest. In 1802 he was appointed assistant to the Rev. Arthur Story at Sunderland Bridge, co. Durham, whence the chapel at Croxdale Hall, the seat of the Salvin family, was served, and succeeded to the charge upon Mr. Story's removal in 1808. There he continued till his death at Croxdale, Feb. 26, 1855, aged 77, and his remains were brought to Lancashire for interment at Cottam. For some years before his death he was assisted by his nephew, the Rev. John Smith, who died at Croxdale May 25, 1897, aged 77, uncle and nephew having served that mission for the space of 95 years. Another priest found temporarily assisting Mr. Smith at Lea in 1806 was the Rev. William Irving, of The Willows, Kirkham, under which his notice will be found. Mr. Smith's successor was—

Rev. James Haydock, born 1764, son of George Haydock, of The Tagg, Cottam, gent., and elder brother of the Rev. George Leo Haydock.

From the school at Mowbreck Hall he was sent to Douay College, where he arrived June 18, 1780. During his journey he witnessed in London part of the great "No Popery" riots inaugurated by Lord George Gordon. As a minor professor he taught grammar 1787–8, was ordained subdeacon in 1791, deacon Oct. 23 in the same year, priest at Arras in 1792, and again was appointed to teach grammar on Oct. 1 of that year, but left for the mission Feb. 11, 1793, to be chaplain to John Trafford, of Trafford House, Esq. In 1807 he removed to Lea, where he contracted a fever whilst attending to the sick of his congregation, and died a martyr to charity April 25, 1809, aged 45. His remains were buried at Newhouse Chapel, Newsham. Mr. Haydock was a learned, laborious, and zealous missionary, and many tributes to his memory were paid by his congregation and friends. Dr. Kirk says that he was some years prefect of the study-place at Douay, and also taught catechism, in which he excelled. For a time the mission was served from Newhouse by—

Rev. Henry Carter, whose notice more appropriately will come under Newhouse, till the appointment of—

Rev. Joseph Bryan Marsh, born Sept. 4, 1783, son of Edward Marsh, a brazier in Manchester, who was sent to the Manchester Grammar School in 1794, and thence was transferred to the Rev. Simon George Bordley's school at Ince Blundell, under Mr. Hewitt's mastership. Thence he was sent to the English College at Lisbon, where he was admitted March 27, 1798, on Mr. Bordley's Fund, but owing to ill-health returned to England, and was admitted, July 30, 1803, at Crook Hall, Durham, whence he removed with the collegians to Ushaw in 1808. He finished his course in July, 1809, and having been ordained priest was appointed to Lea. In 1818 he was transferred to Newhouse, under which his subsequent career will appear. He was succeeded at Lea by—

Rev. John Anderton, son of Roger Anderton and his wife Elizabeth Haworth, formerly of Chorley but finally of Mount Pleasant, Liverpool, who died respectively June 11, 1831, aged 74, and Jan. 23, 1819, aged 53. He was admitted at Crook Hall Dec. 23, 1803, and, having been ordained priest at Ushaw, came to Lea in succession to Mr. Marsh. In 1824 he removed to SS. Peter and Paul, Bolton, till 1836, thence went to Burscough Hall 1836–48, Bootle 1848–9, Great Singleton 1849–53, Congleton, Cheshire, 1853–5, and died Aug. 8, 1857, aged 68. His sister Ellen, of York Bar Convent and St. Joseph's Convent at Scarborough, established a fund at Ushaw in 1832, and his younger brother, James Francis Anderton, purchased the Haighton House estate from the last of the Gerards, and died there in 1853. For a short time after Mr. Anderton left Lea the mission was served by—

Rev. Robert Brindle, grandson of Thomas Brindle, of Kirkham, and his wife Mary, daughter of Richard Gillow, of Gillow House, in Little Eccleston, who was ordained priest at Valladolid, and is found serving at The Willows, Kirkham, in 1820 and 1824, in which latter year he came to Lea for some months. He then went to Croston Hall, the seat of the Traffords, where he died Nov. 8, 1828, aged 36. He was followed by—

Rev. James Sharples, son of William Sharples, a timber merchant and shipbroker in Liverpool, descended from an ancient family settled at Freckleton-in-the-Fylde, and elder brother of the Rev. Henry Sharples noticed under Great Eccleston. He entered Ushaw College Jan. 27, 1809, and left it Sept. 21, 1818, to embark in the brig Susanna from Whitehaven for Leghorn with Nicholas Wiseman, the future cardinal, and eight other students to re-open and colonise the English College at Rome, which had just been restored by Pius VII to its original owners, the secular clergy, after it had lain desolate and uninhabited for almost a generation. The little band arrived on Dec. 18, and there Mr. Sharples passed through a distinguished course, taking many prizes in mathematics, theology, and Hebrew. He received the subdiaconate Dec. 21, 1822, the diaconate May 20, and the priesthood Nov. 30, 1823, left the college for the English mission on July 12, 1824, and came to Lea. He also is found serving at The Willows in 1825, and about August in that year was transferred from Lea to St. Alban's, Blackburn. There he completed and opened the new chapel, which had been commenced by the Rev. Richard Albott in 1824, furnished it with a fine organ, and later established a mission at Darwen. From 1828 to 1830 he was actively engaged in religious controversy, and was one of the leading disputants in what was known as "The Bradford Controversy" (Cath. Miscel. MS., 1829, pp. 3, 85; ibid., 1830, p. 28 seq.; and Cath. Mag., i, 135). In 1836 he was presented with a testimonial for his exertions in promoting the cause of musical science in Blackburn. In October, 1839, he was transferred to Sheffield, and whilst there erected the church of St. Bede at Masborough, which was opened Oct. 12, 1842. Towards the close of the latter year he was summoned to Rome, with the intention of being made Bishop of Malta in place of the Italian bishop of that See. The English Government had intrigued successfully with the Pope to remove the Italian bishop, and his Holiness called upon him to resign, but the bishop declined, saying there was no law to compel him. In consequence, Mr. Sharples was detained at Rome; but it so happened that about this time Bishop Brown, vicar-apostolic of the Lancashire District, applied for a coadjutor, and, much to that bishop's surprise and displeasure, Mr. Sharples was appointed, cum successione, by propaganda, Aug. 7, 1843. Eight days later he was consecrated to the see of Samaria in partibus at the Irish College, and before the close of the year returned to England. In July, 1847, he was delegated by the vicars-apostolic to proceed with Bishop Wiseman to Rome to negotiate the restoration of the hierarchy in England, and whilst at Rome he was seized with the acute malady of which he subsequently died. After his return to England he retired, probably about the beginning of 1850, to the ancient mission of Singleton-in-the-Fylde, and one Sunday, on his way home from Great Eccleston, he suddenly collapsed, and died Aug. 11, 1850, aged about 52, and was interred at Great Eccleston. He was succeeded at Lea by—

Rev. Walter Saunders Maddocks, noticed under Great Eccleston, who came about the end of August or beginning of September, 1825, but only stayed four months. At this period the trusteeship of the mission was vested in Mr. John Gillow, of Salwick Hall, from whose private ledger, in the possession of the writer, some of the details and dates connected with the mission have been obtained. His son, the Rev. Henry Gillow, of Manchester, appears in the registers as doing temporary service in 1828 and 1831. Of the original trustees George Gillow, Mr. John Gillow's brother, had died in 1808, James Smith in 1810, and John Gradwell had removed to Preston, where he died in 1829, aged 80. The rent obtained for the land belonging to the mission was £25 15*s.* 0*d.*, to which had to be added £6 for hay-grass. Moreover, some small legacies had been received, including £5 from Fr. James Bruno Finch, the last of the English Carthusians, who died at Fernyhalgh in 1821; £10 bequeathed by Mr. Joseph ffidler, of ffidler's, in Lea, who died Jan. 16, 1827; and £10 left by Catherine Howcroft. The annual stipend of the priest was £80. When Mr. Maddocks left in January, 1826, he exchanged places with—

Rev. Andrew Macartney, who arrived at Lea from Callaly Castle (vide C.R.S., vii, 321) Jan. 10, 1826, but only remained thirty-four days, and was paid for that period at the rate of £80 a year by Mr. Gillow. He went to Sheffield, and eventually died at Ushaw Jan. 27, 1874, aged 84. He was succeeded at Lea by—

Rev. Richard Albott, whose arrival is noted by Mr. Gillow on Feb. 14, 1826. He was one of the sons of Mr. George Albott, steward to Sir Walter and Sir Edward Blount, 7th and 8th Barts., of Sodington, co. Worcester, and Mawley Hall, co. Salop, who died April 29, 1817, aged 63. He was sent in 1791, with his brothers George and Charles, to Sedgley Park School, where another brother, James, followed later. Thence he proceeded to Crook Hall, where he arrived from Mawley Dec. 10, 1799, was ordained priest in due course, and is found supplying at St. Andrew's, Newcastle-on-Tyne, in 1811. Soon afterwards, in 1813, he appears at St. Alban's, Blackburn, where he commenced to erect a new chapel in 1824. He came to Lea in 1826, as already related, and remained till his death April 2, 1837. He was succeeded by—

Rev. Charles Walker, 1837, till death May 18, 1864. He erected the school and schoolhouse in 1860.

Rev. Walter Saunders Maddocks, returned for a second term 1864 to 1867, when he retired from missionary duty to Newhouse (vide under Great Eccleston).

Rev. Richard Doyle, 1867–73.

Rev. Henry Clements, 1873–82.

Rev. James Eager, 1882–5.

Rev. John O'Reilly, 1885–93.

Rev. Frederick D'Heurtor, 1893–7.

Rev. James Gardner, 1897, till death July 27, 1908. Born at Lancaster in 1852, he was sent in 1867 to Sedgley Park School, whence he was transferred to St. Edward's College, Liverpool, matriculated for the London University in 1873 from Ushaw, and there finished his course and was ordained priest March 16, 1878. He was placed at St. Joseph's, Grosvenor Street, Liverpool, and thence became rector of Eldon Street, but breaking down in health in 1896 he was appointed assistant to Mgr. James Lennon, D.D., late President of Ushaw, at St. Anne's-on-Sea, and in 1897 came to Lea, and now rests in the cemetery attached to the chapel.

Rev. Michael Melia, 1908–9.

Rev. Edward L. Smith, 1909 to date.

No. V.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF MOWBRECK NOW THE WILLOWS, KIRKHAM, LANCASHIRE. 1775–1820.

CONTRIBUTED BY J. P. SMITH.

HISTORICAL NOTES BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

MOWBRECK HALL.

The Westbys, lords of the manor of Westby in Gisburn, in the West Riding of York, which they retained down to a comparatively recent period, obtained possession of the manor of Mowbreck, in the township of Medlar-cum-Wesham, parish of Kirkham, at a very remote date, and made that their principal residence. The family possessed an ancient chapel in the parish church, now called the Mowbreck Chapel, in which many of them were interred. In his account of this and the Clifton Chapel, the Cromwellian Major Edward Robinson states that in the old Norman structure the lords of Mowbreck had a private chapel in the north-east corner of the north aisle of the church, and that both chapels were only used in "the tymes of Popery" for the celebration of Mass by the chaplains of the two families.

Gilbert Westby, sheriff of Lancashire in 1233, resided at Mowbreck Hall. The family also were lords of the manors of Holmes and Duffield, in Yorkshire, and Westby, in Much Urswick-in-Furness, as well as that of Burn-in-Thornton, in Lancashire. At Burn Hall was a beautiful domestic chapel, the walls of which were lined with oaken wainscot, carved with shields, small statues, and foliage, the ceiling being ornamented with vine leaves and clusters of grapes, while over the portal on an oaken slab was the legend, graven in old characters—"Elegi abjectus esse in domo Dei mei, magis quam habitari in tabernaculis peccatorum." There Mass was said, and the chapel was in frequent use from the reign of Elizabeth till the death of John Westby in 1722, after which the Burn estate passed to his daughter and coheiress, the wife of the Rev. John Bennison, a parson in London, who ruined the property in an attempt to cultivate it on the plan laid down by Virgil in his Georgics (Thornber, Hist. of Blackpool, p. 311 seq.).

The Westbys at the time of the Reformation were strongly opposed to the change, and throughout the dark days of the penal laws remained staunch to the ancient Faith in spite of fine and imprisonment. In 1568 John Westby, of Mowbreck and Burn, was singled out by William Downham, Bishop of Chester, to whom Cecil had written complaining of the small progress which the newly-established religion had made in Lancashire, as the most conspicuous of those gentlemen of the county who treated the queen's mandate with scorn and contempt, and was deemed not unlikely to promote resistance, or to be unwilling to shed his blood if necessary (Fishwick's Hist. of Kirkham). In consequence, he was one of the eight leading gentlemen summoned to appear before the Ecclesiastical Commissioners at Lathom House, the seat of the Earl of Derby, and in his answer to the indictment, on Nov. 1, admitted that William Allen, the future cardinal, "hathe divers tymes bene in his house, whom he took to be no such person as is in the said article conteyned, nor thought it any offence in law to lodge and kepe company wth hym, being his kinsman in the third degree" (P.R.O., Dom. Eliz., vol. xlviii, No. 36, iv). Westby was imprisoned at Chester and elsewhere, and heavily mulcted in fines for the remainder of his life, his widow and children after him. His second wife, Catherine, was sister of that great sufferer for the Faith, Sir John Southworth, and relict of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall.

It was one of Sir John's sons, either the Rev. John Southworth, ordained priest at Rheims, or the Rev. Christopher Southworth, ordained priest at Rome in 1583, who is referred to in the report of a spy about 1585 as "Mr. Sowtheworthe resident in the feilde or at Samesbury Mr. Southeworthe's house" (P.R.O., Dom. Eliz., vol. clxxxv, No. 85). There can be little doubt that he frequently served in the chapels at Mowbreck and Burn. Christopher was later imprisoned.

Another priest who is known to have much frequented Mowbreck Hall at this period was John Westby's brother-in-law, Vivian Haydock, "the Fugitive," who is associated with the ancient tradition of "The Gory Head of Mowbreck Hall," and is thus referred to in the Haydock Papers: "On the hallowe'en preceding the arrest of his son George [Feb. 6, 1582], Vivian Haydock stood, robed in his vestments, at the foot of the altar in the domestic chapel at Mowbreck, awaiting the clock to strike twelve. As the bell tolled the hour of midnight, the 'fugitive' beheld the decapitated head of his favourite son slowly rising above the altar, whose blood-stained lips seemed to repeat those memorable words, Tristitia vestra vertetur in gaudium. Swooning at the horrible apparition, the old man was carried to his secret chamber; and when the little children called on All Souls for their somas cakes, to their customary acknowledgment of 'Pray God be merciful to the suffering souls in purgatory,' they added—'God be merciful to the soul of Vivian Haydock.' His body was borne to its last resting-place, and laid beneath the chapel at Cottam Hall by his son, Dr. Richard Haydock."

Shortly before this, in 1581, the celebrated Jesuit and blessed martyr, Edmund Campion, had visited Mowbreck Hall, and it was not long before Squire Westby was arrested and cast into prison by order of the Earl of Derby. No doubt the names of many other priests who served Mowbreck and Burn will eventually be met with, but at present there is a great gap in the record.

In the time of the Commonwealth the Mowbreck estate was confiscated, and was only recovered later on the payment of a fine. After the death of John Westby, in 1722, Mowbreck passed to his younger brother Robert, who died in London June 23, 1762, when the estate was inherited by his male heir in tail, John Westby, of White Hall, whose father, Thomas, of White Hall, had married in 1744 the daughter and heiress of William Shuttleworth, of Turnover Hall, and his wife Bridget, second daughter and coheiress of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall. Robert Westby had apparently made provision for the maintenance of the chapel at Mowbreck, possibly had erected a new chapel, for in the book of anniversaries is the following note: Rob: Westby hujus templi institutor, 1762. For a considerable time the hall had been let to Catholic tenant-farmers, but its domestic chapel was always maintained and regularly served, either by a resident priest or by the priest at Salwick Hall.

The Westbys did not resume residence at Mowbreck till the last owner of the estate, Capt. Jocelyn Tate Fazakerley-Westby, J.P. and D.L., formerly of the Royal Scots Greys, had parted with White Hall and the other family estates, and by his mortgagees it was sold to the Earl of Derby about forty years ago. Capt. Westby, after the death at Paris, in 1842, of his father, George Westby, Esq., of White Hall, being left a boy under eleven years of age, was sent to a Protestant school by his mother, who was not a Catholic, and thus lost his religion, though occasionally he attended The Willows church when Masses were being said for his father and relatives. On one occasion, in the recollection of the writer, when visitors at Mowbreck had assembled in the old chapel, and one of them, the Rev. John Sparling, vicar of Eccleston, declined to read prayers unless "the symbols of papistry" were removed—the crucifix, candles, and two ancient family chalices placed at either end of the altar—Capt. Westby announced that he would not comply, as the altar had stood thus for centuries, and consequently he sent for Dean Hines from The Willows, who at once went and said prayers. Long subsequently to this incident Capt. Westby had the grace to be reconciled to the Church.

"Mowbreck Hall," says Col. Fishwick (Hist. of Kirkham), "still presents many features of interest to the antiquarian; and although one of its wings has been pulled down, yet what remains is sufficient to indicate that in the good old time it must have been one of the finest of the halls of Kirkham. Until quite recently a considerable portion of the mosaic pavement of the three courtyards, representing a hunting scene, was intact, and even now [1874] the course of the moat which formerly surrounded the hall can distinctly be traced. Many portions of the interior of the hall show signs of considerable antiquity, and the old chapel, with its adjacent 'priest's room,' still remains. . . . . A field in front of the hall is still known as Martyr-dale, a fight (it is said) having taken place there in the time of the Jacobites." Martyr-dale, however, is far more likely to have obtained its name from some tragic incident connected with its religious history. At various periods during the dark ages of persecution Mass was occasionally said in neighbouring Catholic houses, such as Preese Hall, in Weeton, the seat of the Skillicornes till the reign of James I; Bryning Hall, the seat of the Bradleys till the reign of James II; Bradkirk Hall, the seat of the Parkers, till it was sold in 1723 by Alexander Parker, Esq., of Gray's Inn, whose wife Dorothy was sister to John Westby, of Burn Hall; and also at Freckleton Hall, the seat of the Colbornes.

The old chapel at Mowbreck Hall was superseded by a public chapel, with presbytery, erected by the Rev. William Irving at The Willows, having a stone over the door inscribed as follows: "I have loved—O Lord—the beauty of Thy House—and the Place where—Thy Glory dwelleth, Ps. 25, vi—A.D. 1809." It was dedicated to the Holy Cross. Eventually his brother, the Rev. Thomas Irving alias Sherburne, erected close by a handsome stone church, with a large new cemetery, from designs by the elder Pugin, which was opened with much solemnity on the feast of St. George, April 23, 1845, and dedicated to St. John the Evangelist. The church was calculated to seat from five to six hundred persons, but the old chapel continued to be used for early Mass and services for the children till the time of Mgr. Gillow, who partially took it down and added the remainder to the adjoining presbytery. So far as can be ascertained with certitude, the later record of priests serving Mowbreck Hall and the mission is as follows:—

Rev. James Gaunt, who after the break-up of Dimples Hall in 1716 (to be given under Garstang) took charge of the missions at Mowbreck and Salwick, at the latter of which he died in 1734. He was succeeded by—

Rev. Simon George Bordley, noticed under Salwick Hall, whence he served Mowbreck till the troubles ensuing upon the Rising of 1745 necessitated his removal to a more distant part of the country. He was followed by—

Rev. John Debord alias Davison, who likewise served Mowbreck from Salwick, and is noticed under that mission.

Rev. William Gaunt, born March 25, 1721, son of William Gaunt, of Great Singleton, and his wife Jane Jackson, and nephew of the Rev. James Gaunt, was sent to Douay by the Rev. Nicholas Skelton, of Lancaster, the north Lancashire agent for the college, and arrived there Sept. 25, 1737, became an alumnus Sept. 21, 1743, received the tonsure and four minor orders at Arras June 12, 1745, the subdiaconate March 26, the diaconate Dec. 17, 1746, and was ordained priest by the Archbishop of Cambrai May 27, 1747. He left Douay for the mission on August 5, 1748, but where he was placed does not appear, and his name is not in Bishop Dicconson's list of priests in the Northern Vicariate in 1752. Soon after this he must have been appointed resident priest at Mowbreck Hall, then tenanted by Edward Swarbrick, who died in 1757. From a letter from Roger Parker, confidential servant to Mr. Robert Westby, then living in London, addressed to Mr. William Cottam, under date Feb. 19, 1754, it appears that there was something amiss with Mr. Gaunt at Mowbreck, and that his conduct was giving dissatisfaction to his superiors. He was sent to Raventofts, co. York, in 1760, to be under the Rev. James Wilson, but soon left to be chaplain to Mr. Francis Trappes at Nidd Hall. In 1763 he left Nidd, and shortly afterwards apostatised, some saying that he was insane, and others that "he fell and turned silly." He was given a curacy at Brindle, near Preston, whence in 1770 he was promoted to the curacy of Ribby-with-Wrea, in the parish of Kirkham, after reading his recantation sermon, published at Manchester, in the church at Kirkham in 1769. Thus he remained minister of the episcopal chapel at Wrea Green, not very far from his old mission at Mowbreck, passing an unhappy and weary time, and depressed with melancholy, till his death in 1773 (Thornber, Hist. of Blackpool, p. 307; Kirk, Biog. Collins, MS.; C.R.S., iv, 249-50, vi, 202). Mr. Gaunt's successor at Mowbreck was—

Rev. John Jones, a native of the Fylde, who was sent to Douay College in 1749, became an alumnus whilst in poetry at the age of 22, April 13, 1754, and, having been ordained priest, left the college on March 23, 1760 (Douay Lists, MS.; First Douay Diary, p. 70), to take Mr. Gaunt's place at Mowbreck Hall. In June, 1774, Bishop William Walton, coadjutor to Bishop Francis Petre, V.A—N.D., visited Mowbreck Hall, but apparently did not give confirmation in the chapel, having done so at Salwick and Lytham. In 1775 Mr. Jones left Mowbreck, and possibly served somewhere in the neighbourhood, as a priest of his name was a member of the Catholic Brethren, or First Catholic Charitable Society of Preston, in June, 1776. Some time before Feb., 1780, he is found at Kilvington Hall, co. York, the seat of the Meynells, and there he died July 2, 1786, aged 54. He was succeeded at Mowbreck by—

Rev. Robert Banister, born Oct. 26, 1725, second son of Robert Banister, of Hesketh Bank, co. Lancaster, and his wife, Mary Bell, who, after being at Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh, was sent to Douay College, where he arrived Oct. 15, 1741. It is said that he made the journey as far as London on a donkey. He became an alumnus June 3, 1748, was ordained priest in 1751, taught rhetoric 1752–3, philosophy 1753–61, was prefect of studies 1754–61, and again 1768–9, and was professor of theology from 1757 till he left the college Aug. 15, 1769. For about a year he was chaplain to the Dicconsons at Wrightington Hall, and thence removed to Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, where he remained till he was recalled to Douay to become vice-president, teach theology, and be prefect of studies. He arrived at the college on Oct. 28, 1773; but, unable to stand the monotony of the routine after being on the mission, left it again on June 3, 1774 (Douay Lists, MS.; First Douay Diary), and was placed at Thurnham Hall, in succession to Fr. Christopher More, S.J., who accompanied the squire, John Dalton, to reside at Bath. In the following year he came to Mowbreck Hall, where he commenced the registers on Oct. 22, 1775. He became a member of the Catholic Brethren at Preston on March 30, 1776. Immediately after his arrival at Mowbreck, Mr. Banister opened a day and boarding school in the hall, with the principal idea of preparing boys for the colleges at Douay, Valladolid, Lisbon, and Rome, and large numbers passed through it, including Dr. George Hilary Brown, the first Bishop of Liverpool, in connection with whom an anecdote told by his nephew, the Very Rev. Richard Dean Brown, of Lancaster, will be appropriate as showing the opprobrium Mr. Banister's scholars had to put up with from their neighbours. Young Brown, in daily walking from Clifton, had to pass by Kirkham grammar school, and was continually assailed with such offensive epithets as "Red-neck," commonly applied to Catholics, and "Banister Doll"—suggested by the name of the famous Preston ghost, which was believed to nightly perambulate the streets of the town, crying like a little child, and unable to cross a gutter—till on one occasion the youth laid down his dinner, which he carried with him, seized one big lad by both ears, and so pulled them that ever afterwards he passed unmolested. On Sept. 22, 1784, Bishop Matthew Gibson made his visitation at Mowbreck, and confirmed 55 persons, Mr. Banister returning his communicants at 100. He also took an active part in the disputes between the Catholic Committee and the bishops respecting the oath of allegiance, and accompanied Bishop Matthew Gibson to London in Oct., 1789 (Brady, Episcopal Succession, iii, 223). The bishop wanted Mr. Banister to be his successor in the Northern Vicariate, and recommended him to Propaganda, but his lordship's brother William, formerly president of Douay College, was chosen in 1790. Meanwhile Mr. Banister had been elected a capitular in 1770, was appointed controversial writer in 1778, and was made titular archdeacon of the Chapter for Norfolk and Sussex in 1794. After the seizure of Douay College by the Revolutionists in 1793 several of the refugee students joined Mr. Banister at Mowbreck to continue their studies under him. The new bishop, Dr. William Gibson, also had great regard for him, and after the death of the Rev. John Lonsdale, Oct. 8, 1802, offered him Dodding Green, in Westmorland, the best mission in his vicariate, and the most suitable for his declining years. Mr. Banister had evidently entertained no idea of leaving Mowbreck, for an entry in his diary, formerly in the possession of his grand-nephew, Dr. Alexander Goss, second bishop of Liverpool, states that he had obtained the permission of his friend, Mr. Richard Gillow, of Singleton, to be buried in his family grave in the parish churchyard at Kirkham. Bishop Gibson, however, persuaded him to remove to Dodding Green, where he went in 1803 and remained till his death May 17, 1812, aged 86. As a classical scholar Mr. Banister had a great reputation, and, in the judgment of the eminent hagiographer, Alban Butler, possessed the Ciceronian style in a degree equal, if not superior, to any of his age. His letters, which are numerous, would form a highly instructive and interesting publication. Whilst at Douay he issued a new edition of "Instructions concerning an Annual Spiritual Exercise," Douay, 1759, 12mo., which had originally been written for the benefit of the students of the college, and printed by C. L. Derbaix, at the Salamander in the School-street, Douay, in 1723, 18mo., pp. 45. During Mr. Banister's time, the Rev. Joseph Shepherd, the rector of St. Alban's College, Valladolid, is found supplying during a visit to England in 1792. He was son of William Shepherd, of Broughton, near Preston, and his wife, Priscilla Barton, and was born July 27, 1738 (C.R.S., vi, 112). From Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh, he was sent to Douay, where he arrived in July, 1754, and during his course soon took the premier place in his school. He took the college oath from Mr. Banister Dec. 31, 1759, received the tonsure and minor orders Dec. 19, 1761, the diaconate Dec. 17, 1763, and was ordained priest at Arras Dec. 22, 1764. He became a minor professor Oct. 1, 1765, and was appointed professor of rhetoric Oct. 1, 1767, but left the college Jan. 3, 1768, with a colony to take possession of the English College at Valladolid upon the suppression of the Jesuits in Spain (Douay Lists, MS.; First Douay Diaries, p. 72). He first went to St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris to meet the Rev. Philip Mark Perry, D.D., who had been nominated the first secular rector of St. Alban's College in the preceding year, and travelled with him to Madrid, where they arrived Feb. 22, and thence went to Valladolid, where they arrived April 15, 1768. Upon Dr. Perry's death at Madrid, whither the affairs of the college had called him, on Sept. 5, 1774, Mr. Shepherd was formally appointed to succeed him on Oct. 25, 1775, as rector of St. Alban's, and in that office he continued till his death Oct. 30, 1796, aged 56, and was interred in the church of St. Francis Borgia (Valladolid Diary, MS.). Mr. Banister was succeeded by—

Rev. William Irving, born Sept. 10, 1776, son of Joseph Irving, of Kirkham, and his wife, Alice Sherburne, descended from one of the junior branches of the Sherburnes of Stonyhurst, who made his rudimentary education under his predecessor at Mowbreck Hall, whence he was sent to St. Alban's College at Valladolid, where he was ordained priest. He came to Mowbreck in Feb., 1803. Just a year later old Mr. William Cottam, the tenant of the hall, died on Feb. 12, 1804, aged 84, bequeathing, amongst other charities, about £2,200 to the college at Crook Hall, and some three or four hundred pounds to Mr. Irving towards the erection of an independent chapel on ground belonging to his family. About this time, in 1807, the communicants at Mowbreck Hall were returned at 270.

THE WILLOWS, KIRKHAM.

The chapel and adjoining priest's house, however, were not commenced till the spring of 1809, and were solemnly opened in that year. In 1813 Mr. Irving was recalled to Valladolid to take up the position of rector of the college, where he died Aug. 3, 1822. During his incumbency the name of the Rev. Thomas Dawson, of Lytham, appears in the register, in Nov., 1806, as supplying at Mowbreck Hall. Mr. Irving was succeeded at The Willows by his brother—

Rev. Thomas Irving alias Sherburne, by which latter name he was always known. He was born at Kirkham June 16, 1779, and after studying under Mr. Banister at Mowbreck Hall was sent in 1788, at the age of nine, to Valladolid, where he assumed his mother's name, perhaps the last instance of this practice, so very necessary for students abroad and priests during the action of the penal laws. In 1803 he was ordained priest and returned to England, and was sent by Bishop William

Gibson to assist the Rev. John Barrow at Claughton, but after about a year was transferred to Blackburn in succession to the Rev. William Dunn, D.D., who died Oct. 27, 1805. There he remained till his brother was recalled to Valladolid in 1813, when he was appointed to the charge of The Willows, and in the following year laid out and opened the burial ground attached to the chapel. After his brother's death in 1822, Mr. Sherburne officiated as rector of the college at Valladolid, but resumed his charge of The Willows in 1825, and brought back with him a number of old Spanish oil-paintings belonging to the college, with which he decorated the walls of his chapel. One very large one, which hung on the western wall, and was valued at one thousand guineas, was subsequently sent to Ushaw College, and displayed on the wall at the end of the great hall. A companion picture remained in the old chapel till altered and added to the presbytery by Mgr. Gillow. In 1826 Mr. Sherburne erected the school and master's house not far from the chapel with funds devised for that purpose by Mr. Thomas Daniel, a noted clockmaker of Kirkham, descended from the old family of his name seated at Durton, whose portrait now hangs in the school, and by whom the school was also endowed. After the death of the Rev. Richard Thompson, of Weld Bank, Dec. 30, 1841, his office of vicar-general was conferred upon Mr. Sherburne by Bishop Brown, vicar-apostolic of the Lancashire District. When Squire Heatley, of Brindle Lodge, a relative of Mr. Cottam, the principal benefactor to the old chapel, died in 1840, he bequeathed to Mr. Sherburne the bulk of his real and personal estate, which was followed by litigation, and in the end Mr. Sherburne effected a compromise. With part of this money he decided to erect the new church, to which reference has been previously made, at a cost of upwards of £10,000. It was commonly credited with being the first Catholic church furnished with a peal of bells since the Reformation. In his declining years Mr. Sherburne had to have assistance, but took an active part in the duties of the mission till his death Dec. 17, 1854, aged 75. Mr. Sherburne was a man of very strong character, with an indomitable will. He was a good preacher, and an unequalled catechist. He edited with some slight variations, "The Old-fashioned Farmer's Motives for Leaving the Church of England and Embracing the Roman Catholic Faith," London, 1815, 18mo., originally written by Dr. Thomas Whittingham, chaplain to the Earl of Shrewsbury at Heythrop, co. Oxon., which elicited a controversy in which the Rev. Robert Gradwell, successor to Mr. Sherburne as assistant at Claughton, and subsequently bishop, joined in 1817 (Gillow, Biog. Dict., iii, 555–9). Mr. Sherburne was succeeded in the rectorship by the Rev. James Swarbrick, but during his incumbency the following priests appear from the registers to have either assisted or supplied :—

Rev. Richard Albott, in 1816 ; see under Lea.

Rev. John Serjeant, in 1817, who went in 1791 to Sedgley Park School, whence he was sent to Valladolid, where he was ordained priest, subsequently was many years one of the chaplains at Spanish Place, London, and died in an asylum at Liverpool Sept. 1, 1825.

Rev. John Anderton, in 1819–23–24 and 1825, see under Lea, who died at Great Singleton Aug. 8, 1857, aged 68, and was buried at The Willows.

Rev. Robert Brindle, 1820, 1824 ; see under Lea.

Rev. John Billington, 1822–3, son of James Billington and his wife Jane, of Durton-in-Broughton, born Sept. 1, 1763, and baptised at Ladywell, followed his brother Thomas to Sedgley Park School, where he was confirmed by Bishop Hornyold May 16, 1776. Thence he went to the English College at Lisbon, where he was admitted Nov. 5, 1777, on the Triple Trust, became an alumnus March 12, 1781, and, having been ordained, left for the mission Feb. 11, 1784. He is found at Sizergh Castle, Westmorland, the seat of the Stricklands, in 1790, and thence went to Cliffe Hall, the seat of the Withams, in 1792, and then served Lartington Hall, the seat of the Maires, from Jan. to May, 1793. Subsequently he was chaplain to the Stapletons at Carlton Hall from 1823 till the end of Dec., 1827, after which the writer is unable to trace him.

Rev. James Sharples, 1825; see under Lea.

Rev. Charles James Teebay, curate, born in 1824, son of Richard Teebay, a wine and spirit merchant in Preston, descended from an old Fylde Catholic family, came to assist Mr. Sherburne after his ordination at Ushaw May 25, 1850, and stayed till shortly before Mr. Sherburne's death in 1854. He was then transferred to St. Edward's College, Liverpool, thence in 1867 was appointed rector of the new mission of St. Joseph's, Birkdale, became canon penitentiary of the diocese, and in 1883 became first rector of the new diocesan college at Upholland, near Wigan. In 1886, owing to paralysis, he resigned the rectorship but continued to reside in the college till his death July 4, 1892, aged 68.

Rev. James Swarbrick succeeded Mr. Sherburne as rector of The Willows. He was son of Edward Swarbrick, of Nateby House, near Garstang, and his wife Margaret, daughter of James Newsham, and was born in 1823. After an elementary education at a good Catholic school at Garstang, he proceeded in 1836 to Ushaw, where he became a minor professor and elocution master. He then went to the English College at Rome, and was the first student received by Dr. Thomas Grant, the rector, in 1844. After thirteen months he was ordered home for a three months' rest on account of his delicate health, then went to St. Edward's College for his theology under Dr. Fisher, was ordained priest by Bishop Brown in 1846, and retained in the college as professor of mathematics and classics. In 1854 his health failed, and he had to spend the winter in Torquay, after which, in 1855, he came to The Willows. He left, however, in 1857, to take charge of the mission of Thurnham, which he had previously declined when offered to him in 1852. Besides his missionary duties he held many diocesan offices connected with examination of ecclesiastical candidates, and eventually was advised by Bishop Goss, on account of his health, to engage in agricultural pursuits, which he did with such success that he came to be acknowledged one of the best judges of shorthorns in the county. In the autumn of 1889 his health obliged him to retire from missionary duty, but before leaving Thurnham he had a vault prepared near the west door of the church for the reception of himself and his brother, the Rev. Edward Swarbrick, covered with a massive Aberdeen granite stone, fully inscribed with the exception of dates of death and ages. He then retired to Seaholme, Grange-over-Sands, but while paying a visit to his old friend Mgr. Wrennall at Hornby, was seized with a paralytic stroke, and died three days later, Aug. 20, 1898, aged 75, and was buried at Thurnham. He was succeeded at The Willows by—

Rev. Frederick Hines, who came from Rome as assistant to Mr. Sherburne and successor to Mr. Teebay in 1854, and for some months after Mr. Sherburne's death served the mission alone, till Mr. Swarbrick came as rector. Mr. Hines, born in 1824, was son of John Hines, Esq., of Durham, and his wife, Hannah Swinburne, to whose memory and to that of his brother, there is a tombstone in The Willows cemetery. He went to Stonyhurst College Feb. 13, 1836, became a professor at St. Edward's College in 1848, went to the English College at Rome in 1849, was ordained priest in 1853, and came to Kirkham as curate in 1854. Upon Mr. Swarbrick's transference to Thurnham in 1857, Mr. Hines succeeded to the rectorship. In 1859 he promoted the new church at Westby, and served it till the appointment of his curate, the Rev. William Ball, as rector. He succeeded Mgr. Thomas Cookson, of Fernyhalgh, to the deanery of St. Augustine in 1870, became canon of Liverpool in 1889, and provost in 1894. In 1880 the last two members of the Billington family died, the Rev. Thomas Billington at Bolton, May 20, and his sister, Mrs. Anne Gibson, at Kirkham, on Dec. 18, and at their deaths left funds to provide for the spiritual wants of Wesham. With this money Dean Hines purchased a little over two acres from the Earl of Derby at a site near to the meeting of four roads, where formerly stood a roadside cross, whence the place is called Wesham Cross, and also close to the spot where the ancient gibbet stood, on which malefactors were hanged in chains, and hence obtained the name of Bloody Lane Ends, leading to Mowbreck Hall, the seat of the old mission. Here a church and presbytery were erected from designs by Mr. James O'Byrne, son of Francis O'Byrne, Esq., and his wife, Mary Agnes, daughter of Robert Gillow, of Clifton Hill, Forton, Esq. The foundation stone was laid by the bishop of Liverpool July 13, 1884, and the new church, dedicated to St. Joseph, was consecrated by the bishop of Leeds March 18, 1886. A school adjacent to the church, with certified accommodation for 192 children, was opened Feb. 10, 1890; and a cemetery was consecrated by the bishop of Liverpool Sept. 22, 1895. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. William Wrennall, D.D., late President of Ushaw, was appointed first rector, and when he was shown over the presbytery by Dean Hines he found it so completely furnished for use that the only deficiency he could detect was that of a gimlet! In the same year, on Feb. 1, 1880, a large additional cemetery across the road opposite to The Willows was consecrated by Dr. O'Reilly, bishop of Liverpool. Provost Hines retired from missionary duty in 1895, and resided at Skerton, near Lancaster, till 1902, then removed to Ashton-on-Ribble, Preston, till his death Dec. 10, 1906, aged 82, and was buried at The Willows. He was succeeded by Mgr. Gillow, but during his term of office he had the following assistants:—

Rev. William Ball, curate 1857–61, noticed under Westby.

Rev. Dominic J. Mulkerns, curate for a brief period before going to Widnes in 1862.

Rev. Richard Doyle, curate 1862–7; see under Lea.

Rev. John O'Meara, curate 1867–70; left for Mawdesley.

Rev. Roger Taylor, assistant June 24, 1870, till 1874; see under Cottam and Lytham.

Rev. James Dawber, curate 1874–6.

Rev. Andrew O'Riordan, curate 1877–80.

Rev. Michael J. McCarthy, curate 1880–7.

Rev. Edmund Kearney, curate 1887–95.

Very Rev. Mgr. Francis John Gillow (see under Cottam), succeeded Provost Hines as rector in 1895 to date. In his first two years he made important improvements in the church, erected sacristies, and added a portion of the old chapel to the presbytery. A school-chapel at Freckleton, dedicated to the Holy Family, was opened on Sept. 23, 1900, and a separate mission was formed under the rectorship of the Rev. Joseph Roche in 1907, in which year Fr. Gillow received the dignity of camerieri d'onore to His Holiness Pius X. In the following year he erected in the church at The Willows a new high altar and lady altar, with altar-rails and pulpit.

* The Rev. John Daniel, the last President of Douay College, born 1745, was son of Edward Daniel, of Durton, in Broughton. After receiving his rudiments with his brother Edward at Dame Alice's famous school at Fernyhalgh, he went to Douay College, where he arrived Oct. 20, 1760. He was ordained subdeacon in 1768, deacon in 1769, and, after teaching poetry, rhetoric, and philosophy for three years, was ordained priest and became a senior professor in 1773. He continued to teach philosophy till 1779, and was also prefect of studies till 1778, and left the college with the intention of going to the mission in Aug., 1779, but returned for the opening of the scholastic year on the following Oct. 1. He was then appointed professor of theology, became vice-president in 1786, and so continued till his appointment as president, upon the resignation of the Rev. Edward Kitchen, Feb. 16, 1792. In the following year the college was seized by the revolutionists, and the professors and students were conveyed prisoners to Arras, and then to Dourlens, where they were detained till Nov. 27, 1794. They were then removed to the Irish College at Douay till Feb., 1795, when they were allowed to return to England. Mr. Daniel joined the Douay refugees at Crook Hall, and was installed president, but being advised that this might prejudice his claim on the French Government, and that it would be better to retain his title of president of Douay College, he immediately resigned the presidency of Crook Hall. After paying a visit to his relatives, and supplying various missions in the Fylde, he took up his residence in St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, and prosecuted his claim for the recovery of Douay College and its property. Eventually the French Government paid over to the English Government a sum of almost half a million sterling in settlement of the claims of British establishments despoiled during the revolution. This was duly apportioned to the claimants with the sole exception of the amounts awarded to the Catholic colleges and convents, which the English commissioners refused to hand over under the extraordinary plea that the English college at Douay and the other Catholic colleges and convents were not English but French establishments. A Protestant Government felt unable to hand over money to Catholic colleges and convents, but, like the chief priests of the Jews, doubted the lawfulness of putting money thus acquired into the corbona, and so devoted it to the discharge of the debt incurred in the erection and furnishing of the Pavilion at Brighton, the palace of pleasure of the Prince of Wales, subsequently George IV Mr. Daniel died in St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, Oct. 3, 1823, aged 77.—J.G.

Concerning the Vaults

The consideration, which the undersigned or others pay for the Vaults, in the burial ground at the Willows, is not considered as the purchase of the freehold plot, but an indemnification for money expended; including however, a right, to themselves, families, & descendants, who are Catholics, of being interred in the said Vaults, so long as the same shall continue a burial place. This does not exempt from the accustomed remuneration to the Priest.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF ST. MARY'S, FORMERLY ST. LAURENCE'S, NEWHOUSE, NEAR PRESTON, LANCASHIRE.

Contributed by the Rev. Henry Roberts.

Historical Notes by Joseph Gillow.

Newhouse.

Newhouse, in the township of Newsham, was formerly in the chapelry of Goosnargh and parish of Kirkham, but since 1850 has been attached to that of Barton, about five miles from Preston. Apparently Newhouse was the original name of the township, for in Domesday Book it is spelt Neuhuse. Newsham (or Newsam) Hall was for many generations the seat of the Newshams (C.R.S., vi, 172), till in the first half of the seventeenth century it was sold to a Protestant family of the name of Wilson. Though the family appears in the recusant rolls, and was allied with many good Catholics, there is no record of Mass having been said in the hall. The Catholics of the district, however, had always the opportunity of attending domestic chapels in neighbouring mansions, such as Myerscough Lodge, the seat of the Tyldesleys; Stanzacre Hall in Myerscough, the seat of a junior branch of the same family till the early part of the eighteenth century; Kirkland Hall, the seat of the Butlers, who retained the Faith till after the unfortunate death of Capt. John Butler, who was slain at the battle of Marston Moor in 1644; Claughton Hall, throughout the seat of the Brockholes family; Midgehalgh, generally called Midge Hall, in Myerscough, the residence of the Lunds; Broughton Tower, the seat of the Singletons till about 1616; and Bank Hall in Broughton, a seat of the same family, or a branch of it, till 1625 or later, and afterwards of the Crooks till the first quarter of the nineteenth century. These were the chief places which supplied the religious wants of the district under notice, till the mission gradually became centralised at Crow Hall, the residence of the Dickinsons, in the eighteenth century, and The Hough in Hollowforth, both situated in the township of Newsham.

Myerscough Lodge was one of the seats of Edward Tyldesley, a justice of the peace, and deputy-keeper of the forest of Myerscough under the Earl of Derby. He died in 1586, and his widow, Anne, daughter and heiress of Thomas Leyland, of Morleys Hall in Astley, Esq., was a staunch recusant and harbourer of priests, constantly reported by spies till as late as 1598. The Tyldesleys were allied with almost all the great Catholic families of the county, and many of them figure in the records of the English convents abroad. The last of the family to reside at The Lodge was Edward, son of the Jacobite squire, Thomas Tyldesley, whose diary in 1712–4 was edited by the present writer in 1872–3. James I visited Myerscough Lodge and slept there a night or two in his progress from Edinburgh to London in 1617, and Charles II "lodged one night at Myerscoe, Sir Thomas Tyldesley's house," on August 13, 1651, during his advance through Preston towards Worcester, and twelve days later Major-General Sir Thomas

Tyldesley was slain at the battle of Wigan Lane. Stanzacre Hall was inherited by Edward Tyldesley's second son Thurstan, and it was his wife Mary, daughter of Robert Charnock, of Charnock Richard, Esq., who is reported as harbouring Fr. Robinson in 1585 (P.R.O. Dom. Eliz., clxxxv, No. 85). It was the custom of James I to appease the greed of his hungry followers by granting them two third-parts of the estates of recusants, and in 1608 he leased the benefit of the recusancy of Thurstan Tyldesley to Charles Chambers; and in 1610 he handed over that of Edward Tyldesley, of Morleys Hall and Myerscough Lodge, to the tender mercies of Thomas Marbury (Gibson, Lydiate Hall, p. 269). At Barton Hall, so long the seat of the territorial lords of the name, resided the widow of Richard Barton, who died in 1569, Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Southworth, of Samlesbury Hall, and sister of that redoubtable confessor of the Faith, Sir John Southworth, and she constantly appears in the records of recusants. In 1584 she is reported as keeping "an olde Priest," that is a Marian priest, and Mr. Haydock, a seminary priest, was often there. This would be Vivian Haydock mentioned elsewhere. One of her nephews, the Rev. John or Christopher Southworth, was reported as resident in those parts in 1585, and no doubt often said Mass at Barton. Some account of the Bartons has been given by the present writer in C.R.S., vol. iv. It was on the high road from Preston, between Broughton and Myerscough, that an attempt was made in 1600 to release the venerable martyr Fr. Robert Middleton, S.J., whilst being conveyed by pursuivants a prisoner to Lancaster Castle. One of the would-be rescuers turned out to be a priest, named Thurstan Hunt alias Greenlow, stationed somewhere in the neighbourhood, probably at Myerscough Lodge or Broughton Tower. He was captured in the attempt, and both priests were executed at Lancaster towards the close of 1601 (Gillow, Biog. Dict., iii, 481; v, 12); and their martyrdom was commemorated by Fr. Laurence Anderton, S.J., alias "John Brerelcy, Priest," in the "Songe of foure Priestes that suffered death at Lancaster," in his MS., now in the British Museum, Add. MSS., 15, 225:—

"Hunt's hawtie corage staut
With godlie zeale so true;
Myld Middleton, O what tongue
Can halfe thy virtue shew!
At Lancaster lovingly
These matters tooke their end,
In glorious victorie,
True faith for to defende."

Broughton Tower, abutting on Sharoe Green in Broughton, was for centuries the seat of the knightly and powerful family of Singleton, formerly seated at Singleton. It had always been a most devout family, and at various times had founded chantries at Broughton, Goosnargh, and Fernyhalgh. On Jan. 8, 1348–9, a license was granted by Archbishop Zouche to Thomas, son of Gilbert Singleton, to have divine service by a fit chaplain within his manors of Broughton, Fernyhalgh, and Farmanholes, for three years, without injury to the parish church of Preston, but in the reign of Edward VI these were suppressed. That at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, though dismantled was never deserted by Catholics, and in the reign of James II a new chapel and priest's house was erected adjoining the original site, and the mission has continued to this day. After the death of Edward Singleton, of Broughton Tower, in 1567, he was succeeded by his son Thomas, a most staunch recusant, who suffered so many penalties for his Faith that his estate became greatly impoverished. About 1585, in a report to the Government of priests in Lancashire, appears: "Mr. Singeltonne, A Jesuit att Mr. Singeletonne of the Tower, 3 miles ffrom Prestonne, or els in the filde"; also: "Mr. Lowe Als Jensonne, resident in the moost about Mr. Singletons house" (Dom. Eliz., clxxxv, No. 85). There were several priests of the name of Singleton at this date, and many later, but no Jesuit that can be identified. Dr. William Singleton, of the Lancashire family, who was ordained at Rheims in 1587, did not come to the mission till 1590. He was apprehended, and after being imprisoned was banished in 1606, and subsequently assisted his kinsman Dr. Thomas Worthington, President of Douay College, till he went to Rome in 1618 (Dodd's Church Hist., ii, 376, 421, 496). The other priest at Broughton Tower was the Rev. John Lowe alias Jenson, a native of Lancashire, who was ordained sub-deacon at Rheims March 14, and priest shortly afterwards, and, after saying his first Mass on May 4, set out for England May 23, 1579. In that year, and for some time, he resided with Mr. Henry Laithwaite, of The Meadows in Pemberton. Thence he came to Broughton Tower, and it would seem that the spy's report led to his immediate apprehension, for in Jan., 1584, he was sent to Salford gaol (Dom. Eliz., clxvii, No. 41), and it is recorded in the Douay Diary that he returned an exile to Rheims on June 14, 1586, after a two years' imprisonment. He set out with the Rev. Christopher Southworth Dec. 15, 1586, to return to the English mission, after which he is lost to view. The Rev. Christopher Southworth was eventually apprehended and imprisoned at Wisbech Castle in 1595. About this time a priest named Edmund Haworth was reported as saying Mass in the village of Broughton in the house of Widow Dilworth (Smith, Records of Preston Parish Church, p. 21). Mr. Thomas Singleton attended the Preston Guild of 1602, and returned his sons Edward, Cuthbert, Thomas and George, and his grandson Thomas, son of Edward. Soon after this he died, and his son Edward succeeded, for, in accordance with the previously mentioned iniquitous system invented by the advisers of James I to appease the appetites of his parasites by granting them the benefit of the recusancy of those who refused to conform to the Establishment, Edward Singleton, of Broughton Tower, was awarded to Charles Chambers as his prey, March 21, 1608 (Dom. Eliz., xxxi, 82). Some few years later the estate seems to have been heavily mortgaged to Roger Langton, of Preston, but the family continued to reside at the Tower for some time later, as is evident from an incident related in Bishop Challoner's Memoirs of Missionary Priests, vol. ii, 1742, pp. 495–6. The venerable martyr Edward Bamber alias Richardson, Reading and Walsh, son of Richard Bamber, of The Moor in Carleton, parish of Poulton-le-Fylde, was first arrested upon his landing at Dover when returning from Valladolid via Belgium to the mission in 1628. He was banished, but again returning to England, where he is found labouring in Lancashire in 1632 (C.R.S., i, 115; vi, 183), he was apprehended for the second time at Standish, and whilst being conveyed to Lancaster Castle was lodged at Broughton. In the dead of the night, his keepers being in drink, Mr. Bamber found means to escape out of the window in his shirt. In this plight he was met by the lord of Broughton Tower, who had been admonished that night in a dream that he would find the priest in a certain field, and rising up fully possessed of the truth of the vision met him in that very spot. Mr. Singleton conducted him to the Tower, where he carefully tended to his wants. After some time Mr. Bamber fell a third time into the hands of the persecutors, and was committed to the county gaol at Lancaster where he made another attempt to escape, but after travelling all night, to his great surprise, found himself in the morning in close proximity to the town, so concluding that it was the will of God that he should suffer, he surrendered himself to his pursuers, and was accordingly martyred at Lancaster August 7, 1646. After the sale of Broughton Tower to Roger Langton, a Protestant, Edward Singleton's younger brothers, Cuthbert, Thomas, and George, were living at Bank Hall in Broughton, and Cuthbert had a son William, and thus, no doubt, Mass continued to be said there. About 1625, or a little later, the Bank Hall estate appears to have been divided, for in 1632 Hugo Crook was living there, and in that year paid his fines for recusancy. In 1641 Richard Woodcock, of Walton-le-dale, was found in his inquisition post mortem to be possessed of another portion of the estate. Eventually a moiety of the mansion and estate was settled by the Rev. George Crook, who served the mission there, in tail male upon his nephew John Crook and his issue about 1695. The Rev. George Crook, who was a member of the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund somewhere between 1672 and 1682, died March 2, 1709, and was succeeded in the mission at Bank Hall by the Rev. Edward Kitchen alias Smith, who became an alumnus at Douay College Sept. 8, 1670, and after his ordination came over to Lancashire. He was one of the Kitchens of Barton, subsequently of Catforth Hall in Woodplumpton, and possibly son of Thomas Kitchen, of Barton, goldsmith, who died in 1677 (C.R.S., vi, 165). After his ordination he came to Lancashire, and appears to have succeeded the Rev. John Langton alias Baldwin at Higher Shuttling Fields, Walton-le-dale, in 1684, and thence came to Bank Hall in succession to Mr. Crook in 1709. When persecution was renewed with such vigour after the unsuccessful raid of the Chevalier de St. George in 1715, Samuel Peploe, the vicar of Preston, reported in 1716 to the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates (P.R.O., 134 P.) : "Bank Hall in the Chapelry of Broughton and parish of Preston. This estate is divided into two parts. One part was one Mr. George Crooks freehold estate, who was a Romish priest, dead about four or five years ago. He, upon the marriage of his kinsman John Crook with Martha Preston, settled that estate upon him the said John and his male issue by that marriage about 18 or 20 years ago. Afterwards at his death, he confirmed that settlement by his will, charging the estate with the payment of £200 to Mr. [John] Layburne, of Nateby, now a Rebel, which was only in trust to him for Romish priests. This the wife of the said John Crook has told me several times, & I know other people to whom I believe she has told the same . . . . . The other part of Bank Hall estate is Mr. Thomas, or his son John Clayton, of Preston ; this has been in lease many years. Mr. Smith, a Romish priest (whose true name is Edward Kitchen), lives in that part of the house at Bank Hall which belongs to this side of the estate, & has occupied & let the ground from time to time ; his life is in the lease as I am told. Tho. Moor, of Sandford in Woodplumpton, holds now about 5 or £6 per an., which he took of Mr. Smith alias Kitchen in the name of William Shepherd. He has always paid his rent to Smith, only he paid it this summer to Dorothy Walton his housekeeper. William Gregson, of Broughton, has likewise ground of Mr. Smith. The said Smith has also for many years paid me Easter dues & small tythes for those lands he has had in possession. I am told that Mr. John Clayton has entered on this tenement some days ago, pretending that he has bought Smith out of it. Clayton told the above-mentioned Greg-son so. Nicholas Moor, son of the said Moor; Tho. Tounson, of Barton, have taken grounds of Mr. Smith & paid him their rents." John Clayton and William Shepherd were trustees for the estate. On Oct. 12, 1716, James Walton and John Dickenson, constables for Bronghton, reported to George Green, the high constable of Amounderness Hundred: "No forf^d Est.—reputed pop. prts. are 2 (vizt Wm. Tootell and Mr. Smith. Wee have no attaint^d psons or estates given to Superst. uses." The constables evidently refer to the Rev. Christopher Tootell, who was the priest at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh. On Jan. 15, 1716–7, "Edw. Kitchen, gen., a reputed popish Priest," in Broughton, was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions. The Crooks continued to reside at Bank Hall till the death of John Crook in 1817, after which, during the minority of his son, John Crook, Esq., M.D., who died at Broughton, Oct. 31, 1869, aged 65, the estate was sold by his trustee, Joseph Bushell, Esq., of Myerscough Cottage, to John Wilson, of Preston, attorney-at-law. The Wilsons erected a new hall, some little distance from the old one, and in making alterations within the latter discovered a secret chamber adjoining the old domestic chapel, in which were a tabernacle, an ancient chalice, and various articles of altar furniture. These were handed over to Dr. Crook. The Crook family is now extinct, but the chalice is in the hands of a relation, the Rev. E. L. Smith, of Lea. How long Mr. Kitchen continued to serve Bank Hall is uncertain, but he may be identical with the Edward Kitchen who died at Catforth Hall in 1730. After the mission at Newhouse had been thoroughly established, the chapel at Bank Hall would be used only occasionally by itinerant priests.

The reign of James II had broken down the more severe forms of persecution, the barbarous executions of priests, and the penalties for non-attendance at the communion services monthly in the Protestant churches. Catholics, indeed, had been tacitly permitted to open unobstrusive chapels in various parts of the kingdom, and a feeling of greater security prevailed. Many of these, however, were wrecked by "No Popery" mobs at the time of the Orange Revolution; but others were only closed till fanaticism quietened down. The back of the long-drawn-out persecution was broken, though the spirit of bigotry remained, and was easily fanned into a flame when it suited political purposes. Things were settling down, outlying missionary stations—so necessary for preserving secrecy in the past—were gradually falling into disuse, and missions were becoming permanently centralised. At the opening of the eighteenth century Myerscough Lodge had been vacated for a short time by the Tyldesleys, and Mass was being said by itinerant priests in the neighbouring abode of Henry Mawdesley in Myerscough. Tyldesley, the diarist, then residing in Lancaster, whilst paying a visit with his wife to Nateby Hall, the seat of John Leyburne, Esq., writes, under date Tuesday, Oct. 28, 1712: "Went early in the morning to prayr^e [that is, Mass] at Hen: Madsley's; honest Mr. Gant being loyall." The Jacobite squire had been greatly annoyed the previous Sunday, when he had attended the domestic chapel in Bowers House, the seat of the Greene family, because the priest "Shirdy did not pray for our master," James III. The Rev. James Gaunt (vide under Mowbreck) seems at this time to have generally served the domestic chapels in Nateby Hall and Dimples Hall, and likewise such outlying stations as that in the house of Henry Mawdesley in Myerscough. The latter, a farmer, was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions, Oct. 2, 1716, and died in 1719. Another chapel was in the house generally called Midge Hall, but really Midghalgh, a hamlet in Myerscough, occupied and owned by Anthony Lund, senior. On Sunday, July 25, 1714, Squire Tyldesley, then at The Lodge, records : "Went with Mrs. and lasses to Antony Lund's. Mr. Rog^r Brookhall din^d with us." The Rev. Roger Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, at this time served several missionary stations in the district, and will be noticed later. Again the diarist records, on Sunday, Sept. 5, following : "Wee went [from The Lodge] to Antony Lund's, off Midghall ; Mr. Vaviser there." Fr. Walter Vavasour, S.J., then residing with Thomas Hothersall, Esq., of Hothersall Hall, succeeded his cousin Sir Walter Vavasour, Bart., of Haslewood Castle, co. York, as 4th Baronet, Feb. 16, 1712–3, and died at Preston, April 10, 1740, aged 78. Anthony Lund, the elder, yeoman, was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions Jan. 15, 1717, with a large number of other Myerscough Catholics, including the diarist's son Edward Tyldesley, Esq. (Forfeited Estates, 62 P.). Notwithstanding all this, the constable of Myerscough, John Gorner, reported to the high constable, George Green, in Oct., 1716 : "No forf^d Est. except John Parkinson's, who was in this late Rebellion and never apprehended, neither was there ever any reputed pop. prts. ever harboured within our s^d towne That we know of." Anthony Lund died in 1727. At this time there was another chapel at Crow Hall in Newsham, which was served by the Rev. John Swarbrick, who also had charge of that at Midge Hall. On Sunday, August 17, 1712, Tyldesley enters in his diary : "I prayed at Crow Hall ; stayed an hour at Lodge, and 2 at Natby" ; and on Sunday, Dec. 27, 1713, "thence to Crow Hall, where I had occasion to chide Mr. Jo. Swarbrick ffor disloyalty," thus showing the offence he had taken by the omission of prayers for "the King over the water." After the defeat of the Chevalier de St. George at Preston, the vicar of Preston, the Rev. Samuel Peploe, B.D.—whom George I, in reward for his activities, in his broken-English speech said should "peep high," and consequently made him Bishop of Chester —reported to the Commissioners that "Crow Hall, Newsham, in the chapelry of Goosnargh, near Preston, is supposed to be the priests. One Edmund Fishwick left a sum of money to lease for it. Ever since Fishwick's death, which is 10 or 11 years ago, a priest has lived upon it, was Mr. Richardson & now Mr. Swarbrick. The estate goes in the above-mentioned William Sheppard's name, & the lease is supposed to be in his name in trust for the Priests. Jane Corwen, of Barton, Richard Clarkson, of Catforth Hall, steward to Sir Nicholas Sherborn, & Jennet Higgison, wife of Roger Higgison, of Barton, who lived by Crow Hall, may be proper persons to examine upon this account. James Walton, a debt prisoner in Lancaster, lived on the estate 7 or 8 years. This James Walton about 2 years ago being privy to the interests of the priests in the estate compelled Will. Sheppeard, the trustee, and a Priest to compound with them for some benefit from it, otherwise he threatened to inform Mr. Read. North, gaoler of Lancaster, knows this" (Forfeited Estates, 134 P.). Edward Fishwick, of Newsham, who died in 1702, was a member of the ancient Catholic family of the name seated at Bulsnape Hall in Goosnargh. William Shepherd, of Croxteth, gent., was trustee for much church property (vide C.R.S., vi, 112), and all the others appear in the various recusant records of the period. In November of the same year, is an account of William Shepherd's discovery of being a trustee for some estates in Newsham and Woodplumpton, called Crow Hall, near Broughton, four miles from Preston, granted to superstitious uses, the rents whereof were paid to Mr. Richardson, a priest (ibid., 62 P.). The Rev. Thomas Richardson, a member of an ancient Myerscough family, became an alumnus at Douay College April 20, 1691 (Douay Diaries). He may be identical with the Thomas Richardson, of Robert Hall in the parish of Tatham, whose will was proved at Richmond in 1711. If so he must have gone there to assist the Rev. Edward Gilpin, who had charge of the chapels at Robert Hall and Claughton Hall in Lonsdale (C.R.S., iv, 319). He was most probably a relative of the Thomas Richardson, of Nateby, who was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions Jan. 15, 1717 (Forfeited Estates, 62 P.), the eldest of the two sons of Thomas Richardson, of Myerscough, gent. This Thomas Richardson, the son, sold his estate in Myerscough in 1712, and then went to live with his brother William at Nateby, where both frequently appear in the Tyldesley diary. Mr. Richardson was succeeded by—

Rev. John Swarbrick, born in or about April, 1679, son of Edward Swarbrick, and his wife Elizabeth, of Weeton Hall, yeoman, who was admitted into the English College at Rome Dec. 12, 1697, took the oath June 22, 1698, was ordained sub-deacon and deacon in Sept. and Dec., 1702, and priest March 3, 1703. He left the college April 25, 1704 (Foley, Records, S.J., vi, 448), was for some time at Thurnham Hall, the seat of the Daltons, and then became itinerant missioner of Midge Hall and Crow Hall. When Bishop Williams, V.A.–N.D., visited these parts in the beginning of 1729, he confirmed 114 persons at The Hough in Newsham, including the Midge Hall and Crow Hall congregations, and Mr. Swarbrick was present on the occasion. He died at Crow Hall, Sept. 15, 1729, and by his will, his executors the Rev. Henry Kendal, of Cottam, the Rev. Edward Melling, of Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, and the Rev. James Gaunt, of Salwick Hall, were instructed to expend his effects in the support of a priest if those deriving advantage from his services would erect a place of worship at Midge Hall, and bequeathed £368 towards the project, and at the end of his private instructions declared : "blessed be those that forward these my pious designs, and let those who offer to alter any part of them answer for it at the tribunal of Almighty God" (Hewitson, Our Country Churches and Chapels, p. 557). However, as already said, Anthony Lund had died two years previous, and his son John inherited the estate according to the entail of his grandfather John Lund. He for some reason removed to Barton Park, supported the erection of the chapel at Newhouse, adjoining The Hough, and eventually returned to Midge Hall, where he died in 1743. The estate then devolved upon his son the Rev. Anthony Lund, V.G., of Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, who died in 1811, having sold Midge Hall and given most of the proceeds towards the settlement of the refugees from Douay College at Crook Hall and the erection of Ushaw College. Thus Mr. Swarbrick's designs were deviated from, as William Cardwell, of Barton, tanner, who died in 1743, made certain financial promises if the chapel was erected at

The Hough,
Hollowforth in Newsham.

This estate belonged to the Sherburnes of Stonyhurst, and about 1680, or earlier, it was tenanted by—

Rev. Francis Kirk alias Simpson, a member of an old Chipping or Goosnargh family. He was admitted into the English College at Valladolid in 1663, and having finished his studies and been ordained priest he came to the English mission. In the records of the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund (Kirk, Biographies, p. 260) appears the note : "Francis Kirk, Priest at Hough, near New House, near Preston. Mrs. Grant, aunt of Robert Gillow, Esq., boarded with him." Mrs. Grant, widow of William Grant, of Hambleton, who died in 1686, was a daughter of George Gillow, of Gillow House, in Little Eccleston. On March 3, 1697, Mr. Kirk's signature appears to the "Declaration of the Clergy of Lancashire" with respect to their effects being bequeathed to the church. Tyldesley in his diary records: Sept. 19, 1713, "In toun [Lancaster] alday; about 6, old Mr. Brookholls & Mr. Kirke came to see me, and Mr. Brookholls stay^d 3 how^rs"; and on Sunday, Sept. 12, 1714, "After din^r went with Mrs. to Esqre Brookholles. Over tuke Mr. Kirke. Stay^d there betwixt 2 & 3 how^rs; soe home [Myerscough Lodge]." On Oct. 2, 1716, "Francis Kirk, gen., a reputed Preist, of Newsham," was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions (Forfeited Estates, 62 P.), and Peploe, the vicar of Preston, reported to the Commissioners: "A house & grounds called The Hough in Newsham is a tenement under one Mr. Hesketh. John Reynolds and one Mr. Kirk a Priest live upon it. John Hesketh of Newsham & John Hankinson of the same may be able to give some account of it" (ibid., 134 P.). And there were other informations to the same effect. It has been thought that John Hesketh was a younger son of William Hesketh, of The Maynes, Esq., by Perpetua, daughter of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, Esq. His eldest brother William Hesketh married Mary, daughter of John Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, Esq., and their sons Thomas, Joseph, and James Hesketh in turn succeeded to the Claughton estates and assumed the name of Brockholes. Mr. Kirk continued to serve the chapel in The Hough till his death, but it is quite likely that he had to remove his residence, for his will, proved at Richmond in 1721, is dated from Myerscough. He is commemorated in the Rev. Thomas Anderton's MS. on Dec. 24, 1721, the day being that on which Mass was said for the repose of his soul.

Meanwhile, Sir Nicholas Sherburne, Bart., of Stonyhurst, the owner of The Hough estate, had died Dec. 16, 1717, and his daughter and heiress, Mary Winefrid Frances, had married in 1709 Thomas Howard, 8th Duke of Norfolk, who died without issue in 1732. The Duchess remarried the Hon. Peregrine Widdrington, third son of William, third Lord Widdrington, but in 1754 she died childless. In 1739 Catherine, daughter of John Brockholes, of Claughton, Esq., married Charles Howard, who subsequently became 10th Duke of Norfolk upon the death of the 9th Duke in 1777. Probably this event enabled her elder half-brother, the Rev. Roger Brockholes, to negotiate with the Dowager-Duchess for the purchase of a portion of The Hough estate for the site of a new and independent chapel. Anyhow it was about this time, shortly before 1741, that six acres of land were conveyed by the Dowager-Duchess to trustees for the mission, and a chapel erected, subsequently known as Newhouse. This portion of the estate appears to have been conveyed to Richard Simpson, of Newsham, yeoman, probably a relative of Mr. Kirk, the priest, as one of the trustees for the mission. He was followed in the trust by his son Joseph Simpson, of Standish, yeoman, who conveyed it in 1787 to Henry Pope, of Newsham, yeoman. In 1819 there is a codicil to the will of James Pilkington, of Newsham, yeoman, who, as sole survivor of the church lands trust, the other two trustees, William Sharples and [Rev.] James Mawdesley being dead, devises the property to the Rev. Richard Thompson, of Weld Bank, V.G. for Lancashire to the Bishop of the Northern Vicariate, the Rev. George Brown, of Lancaster, subsequently Bishop of Liverpool, and the Rev. Joseph Bryan Marsh, of Newsham. The Hough and another portion of the estate was sold in 1788 by Thomas Walton, of Hollowforth, yeoman, to Hugh Pilkington, of Hampstead, co. Middlesex, gent. The latter's nephew and divisee, John Pilkington, of Preston, grocer, son of James Pilkington the trustee of the mission property, who died at Hollowforth Jan. 21, 1823, eventually settled at The Hough, and in 1816 sold the property to Nicholas Salisbury, the description being: "All that messuage and tenement . . . . . late commonly known by the name of The Hough, but now called Newsham House." Mr. Pilkington's son, John Critchley Pilkington, became a well-known surgeon, practising in Lune Street, Preston. The estate was eventually purchased by John Hawkins, a wealthy cotton manufacturer of Preston, who between 1850 and 1860 pulled down the old house and erected the present stone-built mansion called Newsham House, since 1896 the property and residence of William Smith, Esq., M.P. for North Lonsdale from 1892 to 1895, who likewise purchased the adjoining manor and estate of Barton Lodge. After Mr. Kirk's death in 1721 The Hough was served by the Rev. Roger Brockholes from Claughton Hall until a small ill-made chapel was erected and dedicated to St. Lawrence on the land secured as previously related from the Dowager-Duchess of Norfolk, and since known as—

Newhouse Chapel.

Rev. Roger Brockholes was a younger son of John Brockholes, of Claughton, Esq. He was ordained priest at Rome in 1708, and some two or three years later came to assist the Rev. Richard Taylor alias Sherburne at Claughton Hall, and is frequently alluded to by Squire Tyldesley. On Sunday, July 25, 1714, the diarist records going to Midge Hall, where Mr. Brockholes said Mass, and afterwards dined with Mr. Tyldesley at The Lodge. Mr. Brockholes evidently officiated as required at one or other of the chapels of the district, inclusive of The Hough, and Midge Hall. Upon the death of Mr. Taylor in 1726 he succeeded to the Claughton mission, but continued to serve The Hough, or Newhouse as the new chapel was called, and appears in charge of the two missions till his death at Claughton Hall, Dec. 30, 1742. In 1729 he was present when Bishop Williams confirmed 135 persons. His notice will more naturally come under Claughton. He was succeeded in the same charges, Claughton and Newhouse, by—

Rev. Richard Birtwistle alias Halliwell till his death Jan. 26, 1742–3 (Gillow, Register of the English College at Lisbon, p. 176). His successor was—

Rev. James Parkinson alias Cotham, a Douay priest, who also appears in Bishop Dicconson's list of his clergy as serving Claughton and Newhouse, and died at Claughton Jan. 26, 1766, but probably about the time that a chapel independent of that in the hall was opened over the presbytery in 1744, Bishop Dicconson appointed a priest to take charge of "S : Lau. New Chapel" in the person of—

Rev. John Carter, who was probably son of Robert Carter, of Thistleton, yeoman, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, who died in 1721. He was admitted on the Radcliffe Fund into the English College at Lisbon, August 17, 1727, and after his ordination was sent to England July 17, 1736. His first mission is not recorded, but he was at Newhouse in 1745 when Prince Charles Edward passed by on his march towards Preston, and obtained an assurance from his royal highness that his troops should not molest either his person or the mission property. After the defeat of the Prince at Preston, and the wave of persecution which followed it, Mr. Carter took refuge with Mr. Richard Gradwell at Clifton Hall till the trouble had blown over. In 1768, during the anti-Jacobite and No-Popery ferment at Preston, an infuriated mob, after destroying St. Mary's Chapel in Friargate, Preston, and burning that at Cottam, moved in the direction of Newhouse with the intention of demolishing the chapel there. Mr. Hankinson, a neighbouring Protestant, however, met the rioters near Hollowforth Mill, and persuaded them not to molest Mr. Carter, whom he highly praised, and then appeased them by giving them something to eat and drink, after which the mob marched back to Preston. In 1762 his nephew, the Rev. James Carter alias Mawdesley, had come from Douay to assist him. In 1774 Bishop William Walton confirmed 76 persons in the chapel; and on Sept. 23, 1784, Bishop Matthew Gibson made his visitation, when the confirmations were 84, and the communicants were returned at 300, both Mr. Carter and his nephew Mr. Mawdesley being present on the occasion. Thus Mr. Carter continued till his death Oct. 18, 1789, and was succeeded by his nephew—

Rev. James Carter alias Mawdesley, born 1736, son of Richard Carter and his wife Elizabeth Mawdesley, grand-daughter of old Henry Mawdesley, of Myerscough, in whose house Mass used to be said. From Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh he was sent to Douay College with John and Anthony Lund, became an alumnus Dec. 28, 1758, was ordained sub-deacon in 1760, deacon in 1761, and priest in 1762 (Douay Diaries, p. 71; Douay Lists, MS.), and coming to the mission, where he was always known by the name of Mawdesley, was appointed assistant to his uncle at Newhouse. In 1805 his nephew the Rev. Henry Carter came as assistant, and through his exertions a new chapel near the old site was erected, and with a view to prevent any ill-feeling with the Protestants, whose chapel at Barton was dedicated to St. Lawrence, the old patron of Newhouse was abandoned, and the new edifice was dedicated to St. Mary, with a tablet placed over the entrance bearing the inscription: "In hoc signo vinces. MDCCCVI." After a residence of fifty-two years, Mr. Mawdesley died at Newhouse Feb. 4, 1814, aged 78. During his term the name of the Rev. Joseph Maini appears in the registers in 1805. He is noticed under Leyburn. Mr. Mawdesley was succeeded by his nephew—

Rev. Henry Carter, born Feb. 2, 1761, son of Robert Carter and his wife Jane Coupe, of the Fylde, who arrived at Douay College August 28, 1774, became an alumnus June 29, 1780, and, after being ordained sub-deacon in 1783, was sent to St. Omer's College to teach, and was there ordained priest. After coming to the mission he is found at Culcheth, 1792–6, and came to assist his uncle at Newhouse in 1805. When the new chapel was erected in 1806, a burial ground was opened, to the great ire of the curate of Goosnargh, the Rev. Joshua Southward, who demanded the interment fees, and in 1810 threatened Mr. Carter with pains and penalties, closing his letter with the following confession: "All I want is, primarily, the fees paid here, and then it is nothing to me how much you can get afterwards." In 1818 Mr. Carter retired in ill-health to Preston, where he died Nov. 24, 1826, aged 65. He was succeeded at Newhouse by—

Rev. Joseph Bryan Marsh, who has been noticed under Lea. He erected the presbytery adjoining the chapel. In 1854 he retired an invalid to a cottage in Carter's Lane, the road running past the chapel to the Lancaster and Preston high road, and there died July 20, 1857, aged 73, and was buried under a massive stone erected by Thomas Fitzherbert Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, Esq. During his time, in 1822, and again in 1827 appears the name of "Smith" as a priest temporarily serving the mission. The first in all probability, would be the Rev. Thomas Smith, of Croxdale, who was often on visits to his relatives in the neighbourhood (vide under Lea). The other, appearing April 4, 1827, would probably be Dom. Joseph Bede Smith, O.S.B., fifth son of Robert Smith, of Drax Abbey, co. York, by Anne, daughter of John Howe, of Everingham, born June 9, 1801, who came to the mission in Liverpool in 1827, and died at Brindle Jan. 29, 1874, aged 73. Mr. Marsh was succeeded by—

Rev. Peter Holmes, son of William Holmes, of Preston and Newsham, who was ordained priest at Ushaw Sept. 23, 1854, and came to fill the vacancy till Canon Gillow could come. He then was placed at St. Vincent's, Liverpool, 1855–60, and spent the remainder of his missionary career at Huyton till his death Sept. 4, 1882.

Rev. Richard Gillow, born July 18, 1794, eldest son of George Gillow, of Moor House, Newton-cum-Scales, and his wife Jane, daughter of Ralph Crookall, followed Mr. Holmes. At the age of twelve he was sent to the Rev. Ralph Platt's school at Puddington Old Hall, Cheshire, whence he went to Ushaw July 12, 1810. In 1819 he proceeded to the English College at Rome with his brother Henry, and both received their sacerdotal orders in the church of St. John Lateran from Archbishop Frattini on July 16, 1821, and soon afterwards the elder brother was appointed vice-rector of the college, an office which he held till the autumn of 1825. On Sept. 7, in that year, he left Rome to return as a professor to Ushaw, where he arrived on Dec. 6, and taught poetry, rhetoric, philosophy, and for three years theology, besides being prefect of studies for some time. In 1837 he took charge of the mission at Puddington, vacant by the death of his former master, the Rev. Ralph Platt, and also undertook to finish a number of theological students. He erected the chapel at Neston, designed by the famous architect, A. Welby Pugin, and opened it Nov. 29, 1843. Early in 1846 he was transferred to Euxton, whence he served Chorley, to which town he removed in 1851, and in 1854 erected the church of St. Mary, Mount Pleasant, from designs by the eminent architect, Joseph A. Hansom. In 1855 he left Chorley, came to Newhouse, and in that year built a very good day and Sunday school a short distance from the chapel. Thus he continued till his death Nov. 3, 1867, aged 73, and was interred under a handsome monument erected by his friend Squire Brockholes. He was one of the original members of the Chapter of Liverpool, but resigned when he came to Newhouse. Mr. Gillow was a very learned man, one of the editors of the Catholic Magazine, a contributor to the press generally, and was closely engaged in correspondence connected with and arising out of the Oxford Movement. He was witty, kindly, and sharp, and in disposition ever cheerful—even to the last day of his life, as the present writer can personally testify. To a mutual friend—Canon John Walker, of Preston, who attended him in his last illness—he casually remarked that if he had the offer of passing his life over again, he would hesitate to accept it, as he felt confidence as to his future state, never knowingly having committed a grievous offence. His successors were—

Rev. Walter Saunders Maddocks, noticed under Lea and Great Eccleston, who was succeeded in the same year, 1867, by—

Rev. William Henry Bradshaw, born March 3, 1834, educated at Ushaw and ordained in 1860. In 1868 he was transferred to St. Joseph's, Preston, and eventually died at Aintree March 14, 1912, aged 78.

Rev. Pierse Power, 1868–9, who cut down the fine old shrubs surrounding the house, much to the displeasure of Bishop Goss, and eventually died at Kirkdale, Liverpool, March 28, 1895.

Rev. Austin Powell, May, 1869, till 1872, son of Daniel Powell, of Eaton House, West Derby, Esq., educated at Ushaw and Rome, ordained priest at the latter, Dec. 22, 1866, who after serving in Liverpool and Preston came to Newhouse, whence he went to Birchley, where he died August 10, 1910, a very notable man.

Rev. John Bilsborrow, 1872–80, subsequently Bishop of Salford, who established the new mission of St. Robert at Catforth in 1877.

Rev. Thomas Carroll, 1880–95.

Rev. Edmund Kearney, 1895 till death August 29, 1911. In 1905 the old chapel was pulled down and a handsome new church was erected at the expense of Mr. William Smith, of Newsham House, lord of the manor of Barton, formerly Mayor of Lancaster and M.P. for North Lonsdale. It was consecrated Nov. 22, 1906, and formally opened for public service Jan. 17, 1907.

Rev. Henry Roberts, 1911 to date.

* The Rev. William Hogarth, a younger son of William Hogarth, of Dodding Green in Skelsmergh, co. Westmorland, and grandson of Lancelot Hogarth, of the same, was ordained priest at Ushaw December 20, 1809. It was intended that he should take charge of the chaplaincy at Blackbrook House, co. Lancaster, the seat of the Orrells, but his services were required at Ushaw, and he was retained in the college as a professor till October 31, 1816. He then went to Cliffe Hall, co. York, as chaplain to Henry Thomas Maire-Silvertop-Witham, Esq., which he was just about to vacate at the time that he visited Newhouse. On November 9, 1824, he was transferred to the mission of Darlington, and subsequently became Vicar Apostolic of the Northern District, being consecrated bishop at Ushaw on August 24, 1848. Two years later, upon the restoration of the hierarchy, he became the first bishop of Hexham, and in 1861 Newcastle was added to the see. He died at Darlington January 29, 1866, aged 79, and was buried at Ushaw (vide Gillow, Biog. Dict., iii, 321–3).—J.G.

† "Hen:" is clearly an error for Thomas, of Bell Fold in Woodplumpton, yeoman, whose wife Elizabeth was daughter of Thomas Newsham, of Westby cum Plumpton, yeoman. Joseph Wrennall was sent to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest September 23, 1854, and was retained in the college as a professor. For many years he was a most energetic prefect of studies, but on December 10, 1869, he accepted charge of the mission of Birchley, co. Lancaster, where he built the chancel and presbytery at a cost of £1,438. He died whilst on a visit to Harrogate, July 14, 1872, and was interred at Birchley. He was nephew of the Right Rev. Mgr. Charles Newsham, president of Ushaw, and brother to the Right Rev. Mgr. William Wrennall, president of Ushaw, the Very Rev. Mgr. Thomas Canon Wrennall, and the Very Rev. Henry Canon Wrennall, of Blaydon-on-Tyne, who died July 17, 1912.—J.G.

* He was sent in 1841 to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest by Bishop Turner November 12, 1854, and was appointed curate at St. Chad's, Cheetham Hill, Manchester. In 1861 he became rector of St. Mary's, Oldham, which he left in 1869 owing to ill-health. When the Convent of the Good Shepherd was founded in Manchester he was selected as the first chaplain. Subsequently, for several years, he was diocesan inspector of religious instruction in schools, and in 1877 was appointed by Bishop Vaughan rector of St. Bede's College in Alexandra Park. In April, 1878, he became a member of the Salford Chapter, and in July, 1880, he was appointed Cameriere Segreto by Leo XIII. In September, 1891, on the amalgamation of St. Bede's College with the Salford Grammar School, he retired from the rectorship, and was succeeded by Dr. Casartelli, the present Bishop of Salford. He continued, however, to act as procurator at St. Bede's for about four years, until, owing to failing health, he retired from active duty, residing most of his time at St. Bede's Lodge adjoining the college, and regularly attending the meetings of the Salford Chapter. There he died February 10, 1904, aged 75.—J. G.

* Thomas Walton was sent to Ushaw in 1843, but retired in ill-health in 1854, and after finishing his course at Stonyhurst was ordained priest April 1, 1855. His first mission was at St. Anthony's, Liverpool, whence he went to Bootle in 1860, and thence to Widnes Dock, Warrington, in 1861. He was transferred as curate to St. Augustine's, Preston, in 1862, and in 1865 took charge of Birchley, where he remained till 1870. He then returned to St. Augustine's, Preston, as curate, till 1874, when he was given the charge of Alston Lane, where he continued till his death, August 7, 1897, aged almost 68. He was remarkably able and well read, and might have risen to any eminence had he not been obsessed with an inward delight of posing as a roughly cultured Lancashire man and watching its effect. He made a large collection of valuable prints, and left a considerable sum to Ushaw for a cricket pavilion, &c.—J.G.

[The following particulars are written at the beginning of the Baptisms, and should have been transcribed and printed before them. They are important, showing the history of the registers from which our transcript was taken.

The registers, both of Baptisms and Deaths, as transcribed by Fr. Bilsborrow, are contained in a single book of paper 12 × 7¼ inches, cloth, half bound in calf, there being 160 pages, ruled, and with cash columns. The first twelve pages have been cut out, seemingly before the book was used for registers.]

1° Copies of Registers of Births from 1774–1854 A.D.

2° Copies of Registers of Deaths from 1808–1855 A.D.

Transcribed by me

[Page 3] The following are copies of the Registers of Baptisms taken, literatim et verbatim, from the originals now in my possession as priest of Newhouse Chapel. They have been transcribed at the suggestion of the Right Revd Bernard O'Reilly, Lord Bishop of Liverpool, in which Diocese Newhouse Chapel is situate, for security, in case the original Registers, written many of them on loose, or soiled, or rotten pieces of paper, be lost. In testimony of the perfect accuracy with which they have been copied I, the copyist, here affix my hand & signature,

NINTH ANNUAL REPORT

THE past year has been marked by many trials. There were quite reasonable prospects of three volumes being out before its completion ; but many weary delays have had to be endured, some being absolutely vexatious. They have caused much anxiety, occasioned otherwise unnecessary work, and perfectly legitimate complaints from some of our subscribers, to whom our regrets are tendered, together with thanks for their considerate forbearance. The Council desires to avoid particularising those who have been the chief offenders. No useful purpose can be gained by doing so. With the Society's affairs in a sound position, the membership making fair progress, fresh material for printing constantly coming in, and more being prepared, such delays have been very mortifying.

Difficulties have to be surmounted and avoided in the future. At the present time two volumes are nearing completion, two more are in an advanced state, a fifth has been started, and it is proposed to start a sixth as soon as the two first are cleared out of the way. Before the next report is presented it is confidently expected that five will be in the hands of members, and the sixth follow soon after.

The means towards accomplishing this result has been rendered easy by Mr J. P. Smith, who has supplemented his first gift of two Lancashire registers in Volume XIII by the cost of a whole series, consisting of nine registers, covering the whole of the Fylde district, the most Catholic part of Catholic Lancashire, whence so many devoted priests have come. Since the last meeting he has been co-opted a member of the Council, and, associated with several of the clergy and gentry, has organised the work of getting Lancashire registers transcribed for the Society, His Grace the Archbishop of Liverpool giving his cordial support and ample facilities for the work, without which it must have lagged. Seven more of these registers have been transcribed, and a dozen others are in progress.

To the regret of the Council, Mr Engelbach found himself unable to continue in the position of Hon. Secretary. During the 8½ years of the Society there had been four gentlemen filling the post, with several long intervals, during which Mr Hansom had transacted the work, as well as the heavier general management of the Society's affairs, excluding the financial part. It was suggested that a new Hon. Secretary should be appointed, and that an honorarium of £50 per annum should be attached to his post to secure permanency. Eventually it was decided to amalgamate the work in his hands on this arrangement. It calls for no office rent, and centralises the business.

It is a trite and truthful saying that societies of a similar nature to ours could never succeed without the devoted labour of their members and friends. Ours has been singularly happy in this respect, and the Council cannot thank too much those who have come to their help in a cause worthy of their devotion. Thanks are due to several priests and the laity whose names appear at the heads of papers as contributors, or which will appear in due course.

Thanks are also due to Mrs and Miss M. A. B. Martin for the laborious work of compiling the index of Volume XII; to Miss Stearn, who has again come to our help in examining proofs, etc.; to Mr R. Trappes-Lomax, who is editing the records of the English Sepulchrines of Liège (now New Hall); to Mr Andrew for auditing the Bursar's accounts for the ninth time; and to other helpers.

We welcome specially two new workers in our ranks. The Very Rev. Alexius Calderbank, O.S.F.C., who is preparing the Profession Registers of the Poor Clares of Rouen (now Darlington), and other papers; and Mr Baterden, who has already rendered services over the history of northern missions and registers.

We have to deplore the deaths of Mr Henry Nevill, which took place more than two years since, but has only lately been reported from Brazil; of Mr Samuel Francis Bernard Ward; of Mr Alfred John Blount, Hon. Legal Adviser, Member of the Council, and thirty-fifth Founder; of Mr Henry George Worth, M.A.; of Mr Horace Stone Wilcocks, M.A., the eleventh Founder; of the Rt Rev. Monsignor Thomas Luck; of the Rev. John Gerard, S.J.; of the Rt Hon. Bertram Ashburnham, 5th Earl of Ashburnham, G.C.M., G.C.P.

The resignations have been only three.

Owing to delay with the volumes, the Council has not thought it desirable to enforce Constitution 4 against fourteen members in arrear.

Against these serious losses of twenty-five we are able to count seventeen new members. It should be noted, however, that two of these figures are practically transfers, as—Birmingham Oratory, vice Fr Norris, deceased; Erdington Abbey, vice Fr Camm, resigned on change; whilst the subscription of Mr Athill, Richmond Herald, as Registrar of the College of Arms, was actually transferred to the College itself, and is not counted. As transfers to important permanent corporations, these changes tend towards stability, which is desirable.

The result is a gain nominally of six members, increasing the members for last year to three hundred and ninety-six. It is hoped that some of the losses will be replaced by new members in the present year. One such has already been announced to the Secretary.

Mr Henry Farnham Burke, Norroy King of Arms, found it difficult to attend the Council, and has been elected a Vice-President, and continues to give that advice and help to the Society which are so important, and which it would be difficult to replace.

Mr Charles J. Roskell has been elected Hon. Legal Adviser, with a seat on the Council, in place of Mr Alfred J. Blount, deceased; and Mr J. P. Smith, member of Council, vice Mr Henry Farnham Burke, Norroy King of Arms, elected Vice-President; and Major Skeet, vice Mr J. S. Hansom, ex officio as Hon. Secretary.

The members of Council retiring by rotation are the Rev. J. H. Pollen, S.J., Mr J. Hobson Matthews, Mr J. P. Smith, and Mr Carlisle Spedding.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE NINTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The Ninth Annual General Meeting was held, by permission of His Eminence the Cardinal-Archbishop, at Archbishop's House, Westminster, on Wednesday, 9th July, 1913, at 5-30 p.m. His Grace the Duke of Norfolk, the President, took the chair.

There were also present—Mrs Hungerford Pollen; the Rev. Edwin Burton, D.D.; the Very Rev. Prior Higgins, C.R.L.; the Rev. Bede Jarrett, O.P.; the Rev. John Hungerford Pollen, S.J.; the Very Rev. William Ormond Canon Sutcliffe; the Marquis of Ruvigny; Major Francis J. A. Skeet; Dr James J. Gorham; Mr William Raeburn Andrew; Mr Alfred Denton Cheney; Mr Joseph Gillow (Hon. Recorder); Mr Reginald M. Glencross; Mr Geoffrey A. Eyton Hope; Mr Charles J. Munich; Mr Charles J. Roskell (Hon. Legal Adviser); Mr John P. Smith; and Mr Joseph S. Hansom (Hon. Secretary).

The press was represented by the London Central Press Agency and the Universe.

Regrets for absence were received from His Eminence the Cardinal-Archbishop of Westminster (Patron); Mrs John Humble; Mrs Stanley-Cary-Caddell; the Right Rev. Abbot Gasquet, O.S.B. (Vice-President); the Right Rev. Monsignor Ward; Admiral of the Fleet Lord Walter Kerr (Vice-President); the Very Rev. Alexius Calderbank, Prior O.S.F.C.; the Rev. J. Gilbert Dolan, O.S.B.; Mr Henry Brierley (Hon. Secretary Lancashire Parish Register Society); Mr Francis A. R. Langton; Mr H. Farnham Burke, Norroy King of Arms (Vice-President); Mr Richard Duncan Ratcliffe; Mr Orby Shipley; Mr Richard Trappes-Lomax; and Mr Leonard C. Lindsay (Hon. Bursar).

The President proposed the adoption of the report. His Grace called attention to the number of volumes in various states of progress, and pointed out that the first copy of Volume XII was then on the table. He regretted that so many difficulties had been encountered by the Council, and felt sure they would soon be overcome. The financial position was specially sound, as opposed to that of many other societies with which he was connected. The Very Rev. Canon Sutcliffe seconded, and it was so resolved.

The re-election for three years of four retiring members of the Council, viz., The Rev. John Hungerford Pollen, S.J., Mr John Hobson Matthews, Mr John Peter Smith, J.P., and Mr Carlisle James Scott Spedding, was proposed by the Very Rev. Prior Higgins, C.R.L., seconded by Mr William Raeburn Andrew, and carried.

Mr Charles J. Munich proposed and Mr. Alfred Denton Cheney seconded a vote of thanks to the Council and Officers for their services during the past year, and it was carried.

The Rev. Dr Burton proposed and the Rev. Fr Pollen seconded a vote of thanks to the President for taking the chair at the meeting, and to the Cardinal-Archbishop of Westminster for kindly allowing the meeting to be held at his house. This was carried and briefly replied to by the President, who invited suggestions from members for the advancement of the Society's work.

Mr Glencross urged the importance of getting all the old registers of the Catholic missions copied and printed by the assistance of the bishops. Mr J. P. Smith described what had been done in Liverpool diocese. It was pointed out that most of the older registers in existence were the property of individual priests, and not local or parochial registers. It was dangerous to keep registers, as proofs of priesthood, and such brief notes as a priest made were taken by him from mission to mission. One was instanced begun in Oxfordshire, continued in London, Yorkshire, and Montgomeryshire, and concluded in London. Mr Munich urged the desirability of making exhibits of its work at the Catholic Congress meetings, instancing there being none at Plymouth Congress, from which he had just returned. The Secretary pointed out that there was little to exhibit in a dozen volumes or so; but that Mr Langton and the Bursar had represented the Society.

PROGRESS

THE position of our Society as compared with other Record-printing Societies and the dates of foundation will be of interest. These Societies, even with a smaller membership, have done and are doing valuable work. They deserve more support.

NOTICES

VOLUME XII, the first for the year 1911–12, was posted to subscribers for that year on 16th July, 1913. Volume XIII, the second for the same year, and Volume XV, the second for the year 1912–13, are both nearly ready, and are intended to be posted to the respective members for those years together with the Ninth Report. Volume XIV, the first for 1912–13, is still backward. Volumes XVI and XVII, for the year 1913–14, are in progress.

Members are requested to call the attention of their friends to the Society and its work. A copy of the current subscription form is enclosed to members this year, in case they desire to introduce a friend. It shows also how back numbers are procurable by members desiring to complete a set; but it must be clearly understood that it is liable to alteration without notice.

Transcripts of interesting unpublished documents ready for the press, together with the loan of the originals for the purpose of collation, are invited. It is desired always to have material for half a dozen volumes ready for printing, as special donations for printing may enable the output of work to be increased. Mr. Smith's donations secure two volumes being sent yearly to members for some time.

Offers of help in transcribing documents, especially in the Public Offices in London, where the greater part of the documents relating to the country are stored, are invited. Parish priests are especially invited to provide exact copies of old registers in their custody, or give facilities for this being done.

Members desirous of paying through their bankers can be supplied with a "Banker's Order," on application to the Bursar or Secretary.
